THE DEATH OF HON. CHARLES DENNISON, Member of Congress from the Twelfth District of Pennsylvania, is reported as having taken place yesterday, at Wilkes-Barre. He was in his sixtieth year. In 1839 he graduated at Dickinson College and entered into the practice of law, in which he distinguished himself. Being a man of considerable force of character and rare legal acquirements, he was selected as a representative to the Thirty-eighth Congress, and served on the Committee on Indian Affairs. He was returned to the Thirty-ninth and Fortieth Congresses. His death now causes a vacancy in that body. He was a member of the Republican party.

THE REMARKS of the President at New Haven are deliciously cool just at this time. He says he has "labored for the public good, and cannot see why all will not unite in one common effort to restore peace and concord to the country." The masses are united for this purpose. His interference with the Reconstruction Act, through which the desired ends were rapidly being obtained, does not go to prove the sincerity of his words.

THE nomination of Hon. H. W. Williams for Supreme Judge, by the Republican party, gives very general satisfaction in the Eastern section of the State. No objection can be urged to him, as he combines all the necessary qualifications for the office and bears an unexceptionable reputation.

DURING the week closing last Saturday there were only four hundred and sixty-five deaths in New York and Brooklyn. This was the lowest death rate recorded in those cities inside of the past fourteen years. There has yet been no genuine cases of Asiatic cholera reported.

IT IS HIGHLY probable that the coming session of Congress will be an exceedingly brief one. It is thought that a majority of the members will oppose doing any more work than to elucidate and strengthen, by supplementary acts, the Military Reconstruction bill.

ADVICES regarding Maximilian, from Mexico, continue slightly contradictory. One day we have him freed and the next his trial is in progress. We incline to the belief that the announcement that his trial has commenced is correct.

THE NOMINATION of Hon. H. W. Williams for Supreme Judge will be ratified by a grand mass meeting, to be called by the County Executive Committee. Let all good Republicans hold themselves in readiness to attend.

THE JUDICIARY COMMITTEE announce that they have now sufficient evidence to warrant the impeachment of the President, providing Congress deems it expedient to do so.

CONDENSED NEWS.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

The Times' Washington special says: There will evidently be a wide difference in the cost of executing the Reconstruction act in the several districts. While General Sickles says the appropriation of half a million of dollars is barely sufficient for his own command, General Sheridan expects to complete the whole of his district for half that amount, and to have it done sooner than any one else.

—The sentiment of most of the Congressmen now in Washington regarding the session is that it will and ought to be a short one—say two or three weeks—with provisions for a contingent meeting in October. Governor Boutwell, who leads the Impeachment wing of the Judiciary Committee, is of opinion that the session will be short, and that the members generally will be disinclined to force the impeachment report before the House for discussion at this session, but that a second recess will undoubtedly be required to exhaust the discussion of this subject. An early meeting in the fall will be desirable and necessary.

—The Cashier of the First National Bank of Vicksburg telegraphs to the Treasury Department that all reports of trouble to that bank are false. It has not even been embarrassed, and the only foundation that the reports of failure could have had was the delay of certain remittances in reaching New York.

—Advices from San Luis Potosi to the 11th instant, represent Maximilian's trial to have begun on that day. On the 2d inst., General Diaz, besieging the capital, reviewed his army, which, with reinforcements received from Queretaro, now numbers thirty thousand men. He reports he can take the city any time by assault.

The Pride of Paris,

And, indeed, of all France in an artistic way, is Hector Berlioz, the great composer, and the French Beethoven. A letter from Paris to the New York Review, says: As one of the most flattering compliments ever paid to any piano manufacturer by so great a musician as Berlioz, I consider his remarks about the Steinway piano worth repeating. He said: "If I had known such pianos thirty years ago, I probably should have composed for the piano only. This Steinway system gives you an entire orchestra, on a smaller scale, with all the advantages of the richest instrumentation. Steinway's pianos are the only ones, of all those I have hitherto heard, that possess the most perfect beauty of the harmony, without the slightest addition of that screaming seventh, which has never been avoided in the other systems of piano manufacture. This alone, independent of the many other advantages and superior qualities these instruments possess, would be sufficient to mark a new epoch in the history of piano-making."

By making public these remarks I commit no breach of confidence, as they were made in the presence of several listeners, and as the venerable composer said he was willing to repeat them in writing.

—There is now living near Paris, Illinois, a man by the name of John Regan, a native of Ireland, who was born the 4th of March, 1774, and is consequently now in his one hundred and fourth year. He came to this country when quite small, and fought with General Washington in the Revolutionary War. He helped build the first house that was ever built on the site where now stands the city of Columbus, the capital of Ohio, when all around was a perfect wilderness. He is the father of sixteen children, nine sons and seven daughters. Two of his sons were killed in the war with Mexico, and three fell in the late rebellion. The old gentleman says he never knew a single day's sickness. His wife is also living and is ninety-five years of age. Mr. Regan has a daughter living in Sedamsville, near Cincinnati. His descendants number over four hundred, and run up to the great-great-grandchildren.

—The Philadelphia Ledger says: We have received several communications relating to a new form of swindle that ought to be exposed for the benefit of people in other places as well as here. This operator advertises for "copyists, male and female," and in visiting the place he refers to applicants are informed that he has 50,000 circulars to copy. He gives each applicant one copy of the circular, and a package of letter paper in half sheets. He then says (the applicant being a stranger to him) a deposit must be left to ensure the return of the paper. When the applicants return with the work done, expecting to receive their pay, they find that their pretended employer has disappeared. The entire object of this operation is to sell cheap writing paper at a very high price.

—The termination at the close of the present year of the subsidy of £180,000 to the Cunard line of steamships for carrying the mail between England and the United States invests with new interest the question of reducing the rate of postage between the two countries. That some reduction will be made is taken for granted. The British Government is known to be in favor of it, and has proposed that the rate be diminished by one-half; this proposition, moreover, has been unofficially indorsed by our own Government.

—There are some curious statistics on the subject of the Massachusetts liquor law. The office of State Constable, under that law, was established in June, 1865. Now, the record of arrests for drunkenness in Boston for the first five months of the last three years stands thus: 1865, 5087 arrests; 1866, 7100; 1867, 6661; that is to say, during the two years in which the liquor seizing law has had full sweep, drunkenness on the public streets has actually increased in Boston over the preceding year.

Distiller Fined—Registration.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

RICHMOND, VA., June 27.—Judge Underwood's Court adjourned to-day. A distiller, convicted of making false entries in his books, was fined five hundred dollars and his distilling apparatus forfeited.

Registration commenced to-day in the lower wards, and resulted in three hundred and sixteen whites and five hundred and twelve negroes.

THE PRESIDENTIAL TRIP.

Reception at New Haven—President Makes a Speech and alludes to the Constitution — Secretary Seward Also Speaks.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW HAVEN, June 27.—The President left Hartford this morning. He was received at the depot here with cheers, and was escorted to the City Hall by the military. A salute was fired, the bells were rung, and flags displayed. Governor English introduced the President to the Mayor, who extended a welcome. The President returned thanks for this manifestation of respect, not only to him as a citizen, but to the Chief Magistrate of the country. He said: I have tried to be President of the whole United States, not of a part. There were two kinds of courage; one physical, which enables a man to meet an enemy on the battle field; the other moral, which gives a man strength to stand in the councils of the nation and face those who may endeavor to overthrow our liberties. In the midst of all this, I had but one anchor from which I never permitted myself to be cut loose. Conscientious conviction was my courage, the public good my aim, and the Constitution my guide.

He further replied: The storm has passed, the skies are becoming brighter. Then why should they not all unite in one common effort to restore peace and concord to the country?

The President was frequently applauded and given three cheers at the close.

Mr. Seward was also introduced and made a few remarks of a complimentary nature. He said: This is what I observe in Connecticut. Its people have a wonderful faculty, not only for teaching, but for making a great many things. If it is peace, they make prophets, and if war, making warlike implements; and I am happy to say I see the diffusion of knowledge in your State keeps pace with the improvements of skill in labor.

Postmaster General Randall also responded to a call.

Leaving the City Hall early in the afternoon, the President, in the company of Governor English, reviewed the State troops on the green. Many persons broke through the line to shake hands with the Chief Magistrate. Secretary Seward remained in his carriage and received many flattering marks of respect as the procession passed through a number of streets, and several hours were thus consumed. All the inhabitants were abroad, crowding the highways and occupying windows and porches of private residences. Nearly all labor was suspended while the procession was in motion. Hats and handkerchiefs were waved, and frequent huzzas greeted the distinguished guests. The President stood nearly all the time, bowing thanks.

During the procession, the President received a telegram from the Committee of the public meeting held at Philadelphia, inviting him to stop there on his homeward trip. The invitation, however, can not be accepted, if for no other reason, that it would interfere with his schedule.

At five o'clock a dinner was given in honor of the President by Governor English at the New Haven Hotel. The guests included some of the most prominent gentlemen of the locality. The entertainment was magnificent. No speeches or toasts after dinner.

Governor English escorted the President, Secretary Seward, Postmaster General Randall and others to the University, where they spent a pleasant time. They visited Yale Institute of fine arts, where they examined the paintings and statuary, thence, attended by President Woolsey and Prof. Porter, they departed to the library. While there the students assembled at the door and vehemently called for the President. He bowed and retired.

They then called for Seward in equal eagerness, who came upon the porch and was introduced by Professor Woolsey, as being a "Doctor of Laws" of Yale College. The students loudly cheered the announcement, and the Secretary, bowing, said "Ad eundum" and retired.

The students, determined not to be baffled, again clamored for the President, which brought him again upon the porch. He addressed them in a parental and practical manner concerning their studies, their aims, and chances of life, in a speech of several minutes, after which he retired amid loud cheers.

Like salutations again brought Secretary Seward forward, who said: "I know, young gentlemen, that although you are in Connecticut, yet you know better than to suppose that a public man is a wooden clock, that can have its speaking part go on while its rotating machinery is totally run down. I cannot speak to you now, further than to thank you for this kind return to the Alma Mater which you have adopted and which has adopted me to bid you God speed in your studies, and prosperity and success in life. [Cheers.]

The students then called out Postmaster General Randall, who said he was a plain man, and would speak just what he thought about Yale College. He had conceived a very unfavorable opinion of it, for the reason that, as other Colleges, it turns out and expels their correct members. Yale College is understood to have always turned out the best of men. [Laughter and cheers.]

The students then divided into two lines, through which the President and Secretary Seward passed and received a cordial shaking of hands from the entire assembly. The party returned to the hotel, attended by the President and Professors of the Institution. Everybody was delighted with the handsome manner in which hospitalities were dispensed, and, in the language of the President, for the cordial welcome extended.

The party leave here to-night at eleven o'clock in a boat for New York, and will arrive at Jersey City in time to take the train going south to-morrow morning.

FROM WASHINGTON.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 27, 1867.

COUNTERFEITER ARRESTED.

Counterfeits on the Third National Bank of Philadelphia had long been circulating, and the Treasurer had stopped its issue. Detectives Marsh and Simmons captured, in Danbury, Conn., the alleged principal, Gaylor, and brought him to Washington. The detectives found in a cave near Danbury $104,000 in counterfeit tens, twenties and fifties and all the apparatus for counterfeiting.

ORDNANCE MATTERS.

The Ordnance Committee held their first session to-day. Messrs. Cameron, Schenck, Butler and Logan were present. The session will be held with open doors. Captain Wise, Chief of the Ordnance Bureau, was examined as to the contracts made by him for ordnance and projectiles during the war.

JUDICIARY COMMITTEE.

The Judiciary Committee was in session to-day. Messrs. Boutwell, Williams, Lawrence, Thomas, Marshall and Eldridge were present, preparing the report for Congress.

CLAIMS COURT ADJOURNED.

The Court of Claims has adjourned till the 12th instant.

FROM NEW ORLEANS.

Gov. Wells will Proclaim Himself Governor—He Considers Flanders a Usurper.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 27.—The Herald's New Orleans special says: Ex-Governor Wells, having waited a sufficient time for the President to decide on his removal, and the latter not having acted in the matter, has determined upon issuing a proclamation declaring himself Governor, and Flanders a usurper; declaring null and void his present and future acts, and directing the Sheriff and other civil officers not to obey his orders. This he believes to be the law under the Attorney General's opinion. This will compel the President to act. He takes this course by the advice of several lawyers here. His proclamation will be issued in a day or two unless the President interferes.

NEW YORK, June 27, 1867.

COUNTERFEITERS.

Charles Brockway was convicted of counterfeiting government money. Jonas Atkinson and Foreman Clayston, two alleged confederates, were held for future trial.

INTERNAL REVENUE FRAUD.

Henry Tansky and Henry Rich are on trial, charged with defrauding the Internal Revenue Department out of nearly $100,000, by surreptitiously removing a quantity of distilled spirits (about 800 bbls.) from their distillery.

PRIZE FIGHT.

In the prize fight this morning between Bill Gates and young Adams, in Hackinsack Valley, Jersey, the latter was victorious after thirteen rounds.

Santa Anna's Arrest—His Son Protests—Grand Review of Troops—Diaz and the City of Mexico.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 27.—Santa Anna's son has protested against the action of commander Rowe, in arresting the chief at Vera Cruz. The protest is directed to the United States Consul at Havana.

By advices from the City of Mexico to the 2d, we learn that a grand review of Gen. Diaz's army, numbering 30,000 troops from Queretaro, which had arrived on the 20th ult., had taken place. Diaz wrote to Juarez that he will occupy the city within one week, but he did not think it advisable to press matters, as its ultimate fall was certain.

Citizens Meeting in Philadelphia—Courtesies to the President.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 27.—At a meeting of the citizens, to-day, resolutions were adopted for the appointment of a committee of twenty-five to wait upon the President on his arrival here, and invite him and party to visit the city and partake of its hospitalities and courtesies.

Killed by Indians.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

KANSAS CITY, MO., June 27.—Private advices say Edward Develey, an old citizen of this place, and a German named Moritz, of St. Louis, were killed near Big Cow Creek, on the 14th, by a band of Cheyenne Indians.

PRAIRIE DOGS.

Everybody has heard of the curious little animals known by this name; but the term is altogether inapplicable; for the creature has not a single feature or characteristic of the canine race about it, except that it barks. Its bark, however, is that of the squirrel, not that of the dog. It, like the squirrel and marmot, belongs to the genus rodentia, and lives altogether upon vegetable food. Its color is a yellowish brown, its form and head resembles those of the gray squirrel; in size it is somewhat larger. Its ears look as if cropped off; its tail is short, and its paws like those of the squirrel, but admirably adapted to burrowing in the ground. The expression of its countenance, if I may so talk, is that of the squirrel, and its manifestations of confidence, bordering on affection, when petted, are exactly like those of the squirrel. In eating, its grasps its food between its paws and nibbles it daintily, just as the squirrel does; and if corn is given, of which it is fond, it bites out the soft germinating part and throws the flinty part away.

As our party came up the road, about half way between Fort Riley and this place, while running over a broad prairie, we came to a place called Abeliene, a hamlet of three or four houses and a country store. The place is perhaps better known as Dogtown. Here the train stopped, and our attention was directed to about a hundred little mounds, in the top of each of which was a neat little hole running down, at an angle of about forty-five degrees, deep into the ground. On the top of each mound was one prairie dog standing up on his haunches as erect as a grenadier, apparently on the lookout to see what was coming. We all got out and approached the cluster of mounds, which were all comprehended within a space of less than half an acre. On our approach all the "dogs" at once dived down into their burrows with the speed of arrows and disappeared. Presently one fellow, bolder than his comrades, came up to the mouth of his subterranean domicil and began to bark angrily at us, much as a very small dog would do, which afforded a good deal of amusement. Presently another appeared, who received his visitors with all the politeness of which he was capable, and was rewarded for his confidence with sundry bits of crackers, cakes and candy, with which he appeared to be well pleased. In their eagerness to see it many of the party, especially the ladies, pressed closer and closer around. This soon became too much for his courage, and he darted back into his burrow. Hereupon Mr. Wells, of the Philadelphia Bulletin, took it upon him to be master of ceremonies, made a mock-heroic speech, assuring "the audience" that it was essential, in a performance of this kind, that the circle be fifty feet in diameter, and that he would continue to "swing round the circle" until it had expanded to that dimension. This he did, talking as he went, and the thing was soon accomplished. Then our little friend ventured out again, and exhibited his courage and agility by dashing off from his place of refuge a yard or two to pick up bits of cake. It was a pretty and unique spectacle to see a circle of perhaps a hundred and forty ladies and gentlemen standing in a ring zigzag and well pleased at the gambols of the funny little animal. We stayed here about half an hour, and all the time our angry one kept barking at us.

These "dogs" were about half domesticated, and were fed by the families who live beside them, and it is probable that the young are sold for pets. A member of our party asked one of the ladies resident where they came from. "Oh," said she, "they were brought from the West." In another place we saw a similar village or colony, apparently more numerous, in a perfectly wild state. They are exceedingly gregarious, and, it is said, harmless. There is a notion widely prevalent out here, that in every dog hole are to be found a rattlesnake and an owl; but no one has ever been found who ever saw the last two inhabitants. The probability that the reptile and the bird are apt to be about in search of the young "dogs" as prey. Whether their habitations communicate one with another underground I could find no one who could tell; but probably they do. I was told by a young man that he poured one hundred and thirty buckets of water into a hole before he found a "dog" to come up. It then came up and he caught it.

RAMBLING OBSERVATIONS.

There are birds here, but they are not very numerous. I have seen some of beautiful plumage. When the country is settled, and trees become more numerous, they will multiply. There is a small species of black bird here which is very useful in destroying insects, especially grasshoppers, which are occasionally a great pest. This year there are few, if any, up here, but down near the Missouri they are pretty numerous. They have, however, not done any serious harm.

Rattlesnakes are somewhat numerous on "the plains" west of this; but I have not seen any. I have been about as far west as the celebrated spot where our excursion friends of last fall killed the buffalo; but as the wave of civilized life, led on by the Union Pacific Railway, has rolled on about eighty miles since then, I did not expect to see any. I, however, helped to eat a fresh one at Clear Creek, a little this side of Fort Harker. The Indians and the buffaloes are rapidly melting away before the resistless march of a stronger race. Before this mighty onward movement all that cannot be assimilated must be destroyed. The buffalo cannot be domesticated, nor the Indian civilized, so they are apparently alike devoted to extermination. Both are surrounded now, the cordon of civilization is pressing closer and closer around them, and the issue, so far as we can see, is as inevitable as fate. In another letter I shall speak more fully on this painful subject, only remarking now, that, from all I hear, it will be more tolerable in the day of judgment for the Indian, with all his savagery, than for some white men whom our country has clothed with authority, and into whose hands it has placed the destiny of these apparently doomed wretches.

No part of the earth's surface has ever passed so suddenly from the condition of a vast, trackless, desolate abode of wild beasts and roving savages to one of complete and beautiful christian civilization as this, and probably no other could have been so quickly transformed. As it was in the primitive earth, God's own hand has planted a garden here, and all that is required of man is that he shall go in, and occupy, and dress it, and keep it. Here he is not called upon to contend with heavy forests and perplexing brambles; for the land is already a rich meadow decked with flowers and ready for the plough and the seed; while the railway, sent here by the agency of well-directed, yea, heaven-directed enterprise, with its concomitants, fills out all the material conditions required. Now let the Bible, with its blessed influences, and living teachers of both schools and churches, together with the press, be sent forward, and the old exploded myth of an "American desert" will vanish even from the memory of men; for under the operation of the forces now in action, this long talked of "desert" will soon blossom as the rose. Indeed, it is literally a flowery desert now.

THE UNIVERSAL YANKEE.

It is a notable fact that all the active business men here hail from Chicago, or somewhere on that social and commercial line. Many of the stores are branches of commercial houses in that city. The forwarding and commission merchants, who handle the Denver and Santa Fe trades, are Chicago men; and the wagons, reapers, mowers, thrashers, shovels, spades, hoes, cooking stoves, and everything pertaining to a farmer's outfit—and there are more of these things here than I ever saw in any town of its size—bear the same impress, and are furnished by Chicago, or by New York or New England through Chicago. This I like to see; for it proves what I asserted strongly in my correspondence last fall, that the Union Pacific Railway of the Kansas is the better avenue for the trade between the farthest East and the farthest West. It proves, moreover, that already Chicago, which has not yet a perfect connection by rail with this road, is entrenching itself strongly and firmly in this matchless garden of the continent. It is through this avenue, and this only, that that city and the great commercial cities of which it is the outpost, can reach the centre of Colorado, and the still more remote territories of New Mexico and Arizona; and I am persuaded that it is destined to be their best route to California.

At present that trade is carried over the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad (the best road in Illinois) to Quincy; thence across the Mississippi to the Hannibal & St. Joseph road, which begins on the opposite bank of the river, and runs to St. Joseph, on the Missouri. Thence it goes by rail to Weston, six miles above Leavenworth. From Weston to Leavenworth it is carried by steamers. At Leavenworth it meets one branch of the Union Pacific road. In a short time a branch road will be completed from Cameron (about fifty miles east of St. Joseph) to the east branch of the Missouri, opposite Leavenworth; and a bridge across the river to that city is the last remaining link required to complete the long and direct chain between Chicago and the Union Pacific Railway of the Kansas. A branch road from Cameron to Kansas City is also in progress of construction, and another bridge is to be built across the Missouri at that point, which is the main terminus of the Union Pacific. Thus two distinct lines will unite the cities of the lakes, and through them all the railroad lines in and north of Pennsylvania, with this great continental thoroughfare. They are now building a bridge over the Mississippi at Quincy. So, when all that is now in rapid progress shall be completed, cars may be run from any of the cities of the Atlantic coast to the Pacific without breaking bulk. Before five years more shall have rolled round, that which lately seemed but an enthusiast's dream will be sober verity, an accomplished fact.

I have said that I was pleased to see the energy of Chicago in grasping this prize. It is eminently commendable, and if the cities along the other great line of the country's commerce—beginning at Philadelphia and ending at St. Louis—allow themselves to be outstripped, it is their own fault. This, however, I do not like to see. Allow me to state frankly the result of my observation during the past few days of constrained sojourn in this lively little border town, which is for the present the commercial terminus of this road. I have rambled through the closely packed warehouses of the railroad and of the forwarding houses, and one empty glass box, bearing the stencil mark of a Pittsburgh house, was the only evidence I met that there was anything manufactured in our State. Ohio was represented by some agricultural machinery. Even St. Louis had very little to remind one that it is a great city, and that to its enterprise the country is mainly indebted for this magnificent thoroughfare into a vast and prolific region, which, but for it, would afford no market to anybody.

The magnitude of the trade on this road astonishes even those who are building it. Its revenue during the month of May was over $165,000, or at the rate of $1,750,000 a year. A double track will be needed through the valley of the Kansas long before the far-distant goal shall be reached. J. C.

P. S.—In justice to our State I must state the fact that all the rails and all the locomotives on this road are of Pennsylvania manufacture. It was only of commodities which enter into the general trade of this road of which I spoke above.

FOUR O'CLOCK, A. M.

THE SURRATT TRIAL.

Testimony of Lewis C. Weichman.

SENSATION IN COURT.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 27, 1867.

THE SURRATT TRIAL.

William R. Conger, residing at St. Albans, testified he thought he saw the prisoner there on Tuesday or Wednesday after the assassination. Another man was with him. Suspected then he had been engaged in the assassination conspiracy. Crossed his path several times as he was going to the depot, and tried to find an officer to have him arrested.

On cross-examination witness said he had no description of the man supposed to be engaged in the assassination, except what he saw in the Burlington Times.

Mr. Bradley requested that witness be summoned for the defense, which was ordered.

The witness replied to Mr. Pierrepont that the description in the paper was of Booth, and he was looking for him.

Edward A. Sawles testified to seeing the same person on the 18th of April, 1865, at St. Albans. He was unable to identify the man.

Sawles was to-day summoned for the defense.

Mrs. E. W. Clermont, of Washington, testified to seeing on Pennsylvania Avenue, in April, 1864, two men who seemed impatiently waiting for another. She was waiting for a car. In a few minutes they were joined by another, and I turned my head, why I don't know. They spoke in an undertone. The only name I heard was "Jim," and then I heard the President's name mentioned, and one man spoke of coming from the soldiers' home. Then I heard the words "telescope" "rifle." One of the others answered his wife and child would be along. Another replied, it made no difference, if necessary, they, too, could be got rid of. At this I turned and one seeing I was looking, both ceased their conversation and walked down the avenue. Their conversation was in an undertone and I could only catch a word here and there. They made remarks I could not help hearing. Two were talking at first, and the third came down Tenth street. I saw one of the men at the conspiracy trial. Harold and Atzerott, they were the two men at the corner. The man who came down Tenth street was a young man of medium heighth, and I thought I had seen him before; I did not know where, but recollected afterwards I had seen him on the stage and recognized the third man as John W. Booth.

Edward Sawles, residing at St. Albans, Vermont, testified to seeing a man, supposed to be Booth, at that place on the 18th of April, 1865, talking to another man. Witness was confident it was not Booth, because of telegrams being received stating that he was being pursued in another direction, though he saw the resemblance between the man and the prisoner.

Lewis J. Weichman was next sworn, and his evidence occupied the rest of the day. He detailed the commencement of his intimacy with Surratt. He first met Harold at Mrs. Surratt's in Surrattsville. Witness commenced to lodge at Mrs. Surratt's house, in Washington, November 1st, 1864, and to take meals there in December following. He boarded there on the night of the assassination. The first outside party he saw at the house, connected with the conspiracy, was Booth. In 1864 or 1865 he was invited to take a walk by Surratt, during which he recognized and was introduced to Dr. Mudd. Dr. Mudd introduced Booth to both, and Booth invited us to his room at the National Hotel. There he ordered the drinks and cigars. The number of the room was eighty-four. Booth, Mudd and Surratt had a private conversation in the entry, which each subsequently told witness referred to Booth's desire to purchase Mudd's farm. They also conversed twenty minutes around a table, Booth making marks on an envelope, which witness thought were straight lines from the motion of the pencil. Some time afterwards, in reply to a question, Mrs. Surratt said the people of Charles county were tired of Booth and wanted to pass him off on John. In the summer of 1864 saw Harold at Piscataway Church. Surratt was there; it was only a casual meeting. In the latter part of 1864 Surratt was employed in Adams Express, and took French leave for a visit to the country. In January, 1865, he also took leave and went to Port Tobacco. Witness recognized the entry of his own and Surratt's name on the register of the Maltby House, Baltimore, January 21st, 1865. Next morning Surratt took a carriage; said he had three hundred dollars; that he was going to see some gentlemen on business, and did not want me along; don't know where he went; I returned home that evening; think I left Surratt in Baltimore. Was introduced to Atzerott and Surratt at Surratt's house; he and Surratt conversed; and Mrs. Surratt also frequently saw Atzerott at her house. Afterwards Booth came very frequently. In February, 1865, Surratt went to New York; told me nothing about his visit, except that he saw Booth; that he had a fine horse, and that he had been introduced to Edwin Booth. Witness detailed the appearance of Payne at Surratt's House in February, 1865, under the name of Wood. There was no sign of recognition between Surratt and Wood; he took supper by Mrs. Surratt's desire in witness' room. On March 13th he again visited the house, giving his name as Payne. Next day he came back and walked into my room; I was writing at a table, and Surratt was lying on a bed. Payne said he wanted to converse privately with Surratt. I left the room. Next day when I came home, March 13th, I found a moustache lying on my table. I then went up to an attic room, back, and saw Surratt and Payne seated on a bed conversing, surrounded by new spurs, two revolvers and two bowie knives. When I went to dinner I told Mrs. Surratt I had seen John and Payne fencing with these things, and said I "Mrs. Surratt, I don't like this." I told her I had seen them on the bed. She told me I need not think anything of it, as I knew John was in the habit of riding in the country, and he had to have things for protection. That night Payne and Surratt attended Ford's Theatre, with ladies. Subsequently came to my room, got a pack of cards and stayed out all night. Surratt afterwards said he spent the night at Gouttiers, and would introduce me, but it was a private club. On the eve of March 3d Booth and Surratt were conversing in Mrs. Surratt's parlor. Booth was also there on the evening of the 4th of March. Harold was not there then, but was there on a day in March, talking with Atzerott and Surratt. On the 25th I met Surratt at the Postoffice, and he asked for a letter addressed to himself under the name of James Sturdy. I saw the letter; it came from New York, and was signed Wood. On reading this letter Surratt said nothing particular. He only showed me the letter; he said was from Wood, who had been at Mrs. Surratt's house. Did not tell me where Wood was. On the 23d of March Mrs. Hallahan came to the office where I was employed, and handed me a telegram from New York. [Telegram exhibited and witness recognized it.] The telegram was dated New York, March 23, 1867. Was directed to J. Weichman, and read:

"Tell John to telegraph the number and street at once.
[Signed,] J. W. BOOTH."

Witness continued: I took the telegram home and showed it to John Surratt. He said it must be for him, and I asked him what number and street was wanted, and he replied, "Don't be so d—d inquisitive." That afternoon Surratt and I took a walk, and at the corner of Tenth and F streets met Miss Anna Ward. We then went to the Herndon House; went in and John Surratt asked for Mrs. Murray; said he wanted to speak to her privately. Surratt asked if a room had not been engaged by Miss Ward for a man who was expected on Monday, and was delicate, and wanted his meals sent to the room. Mrs. Murray recollected that a room was engaged. The man's name was not mentioned; think Surratt stated upon our return home the sick man was to come from New York. On March 25th witness saw Surratt, his mother and Mrs. Slater in a carriage, drawn by two white horses, which Mrs. Surratt subsequently said had been hired from the Brook stables. Mrs. Surratt returned alone next evening and said John had gone to Richmond with Mrs. Slater to get a clerkship. Saw the horses again the following Saturday, driven by a Dr. Wyvile, and I was asked to tell the stabler that the horses would be returned next day. I objected and Mrs. Surratt said "oh, Brook thinks Atzerott, Harold and Surratt are a party of gamblers, and I want him to think so." On Sunday, March 29th, as I was going to church, Mrs. Surratt asked me to go to the National and tell Booth she wanted to see him that afternoon at the hotel. I met Atzerott and was introduced by Booth to John T. McCullough, the actor. I delivered my message, and Booth came that afternoon and had an interview with Mrs. Surratt at the head of the back stairs. On the 27th of March Anna Surratt, Miss Jenkins, Miss Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Suaratt and I went to St. Patrick's Church and on returning Mrs. Surratt stopped at the Herndon House, and said she was going to see Payne. She staid twenty minutes and then came out. We went home together. A day or two afterwards I met Atzerott and he said he was going to see Payne. I asked if it was Payne who boarded at the Herndon House, and he said "yes." I told Mrs. Surratt what Atzerott said, and she appeared to be angry that he should have told me. On the morning of April 1st, I left Mrs. Surratt at the breakfast table, and she was not at home when I returned. She returned afterwards in a buggy, driven by Mr. Jenkins, and she said she had been to Surrattsville. I saw Atzerott at Mrs. Surratt's on April 2d. Mrs. Surratt had sent me for Booth, and said if Booth was not there to go and tell Atzerott, as she wanted to see either of them. Booth was not at the National, and I went to the Vienna House, and saw Atzerott standing in front of the house holding two horses, one large horse and the other blind of one eye. I asked whose horses they were, and he said one was Booth's and the other his own. I communicated my message and Atzerott asked me to get on one of the horses and ride with him. I refused, saying I wanted to go to church, and Atzerott said he would go to church with me, and I then got on one of the horses and rode to the Surratt House, and Atzerott went in, I remaining outside. That afternoon Mrs. Surratt said her brother wanted to return to the country, and she requested me to ask Atzerott to lend Mr. Jenkins one of her brother's horses. I asked Atzerott and he said before he could loan the horses he must see Payne. I asked what Payne had to do with it. You say one is Booth's and one is yours, and John Surratt says they are his. The reply was that Payne had a heap to do with it. We then walked to the Hudson House, and Atzerott went in, and in thirty minutes came out and said Payne would not consent to loan the horses. I went and told Mrs. Surratt. Told of the interview, and she seemed to be much annoyed that Payne should have refused, saying she had loaned him the last five dollars in her purse. Mr. Jenkins walked home. Next day, April 3d, I was in the parlor in the evening and John Surratt came in, very neatly dressed, and I asked him where he had been, and he said to Richmond. I asked him if he had not heard the news that Richmond was evacuated. He said it was not true, that he had seen Benjamin and Davis, and they said Richmond would not be evacuated. John then went up stairs and I followed him and he showed me sixty dollars in gold, which he said he wanted to exchange for greenbacks. He showed me a quantity of gold. John left the house at 7 o'clock, April 3d, in the evening, and he asked me to go with him and get some oysters, and said he was going to Montreal. We got oysters on Pennsylvania Avenue. We then walked to the Metropolitan Hotel, and he there bade me good-bye, and said he would write to me, and I have not seen him since until to-day. After this I saw Booth on the sofa with some ladies, and I was shown, by Anna Surratt, a letter from John Booth. Came there frequently. Did not see Atzerott at Mrs. Surratt's after April 21. On the evening of April 10th Mrs. Surratt asked me to drive her to the country on the 11th. I went with her on the following morning. She asked me to go to the National Hotel and tell Booth she sent me for his buggy and horse. I found Booth in his room and delivered my message. He said he had sold the horse and buggy, but handed me ten dollars to hire a horse. In speaking of horses, I said I thought they were Surratt's, and he said they were his own. I hired a horse and buggy at Howard's stables, and we left the house at nine o'clock, and while going to Surrattsville we met John M. Lloyd, outside of Uniontown. We stopped Lloyd and he came and spoke to Mrs. Surratt. Mrs. Surratt leaned forward and carried on a conversation which I did not hear; it was in low tone, and I am not in the habit of listening. Mrs. Surratt had a conversation in louder tone with Mrs. Offutt. Mrs. Offutt was speaking of a man named Howell, a blockade runner, who was in Old Capitol. We then went on to Surrattsville, and Mrs. Surratt wanted to meet Mr. Nothey, and the latter was not there. We then drove to Mr. Garrison's and took dinner, and upon our return Mrs. Surratt had an interview with Mr. Nothey, and after they got through with their business we returned to town, getting back between five and six o'clock. At two o'clock Mrs. Surratt came to my door, and said she had heard from her property and must go to the country again to see Mr. Nothey about the money transaction. She gave me ten dollars to hire a buggy. As I was going out, I met Booth and shook hands with him. I then went to Howard's stable, and saw Atzerott attempting to hire a horse. His request was not complied with, and he could not get a horse. I asked him what he wanted with a horse. He said he wanted to send off Payne. I then returned with a buggy and horse, and passed up to my room for a moment. I saw Booth and Mrs. Surratt at the parlor door, in conversation. This was between twenty-five minutes after two o'clock and twenty-five minutes of three o'clock. Booth was standing leaning on the mantle, and Mrs. Sur, att had her back to me. I went to the buggy and Mrs. Surratt came down in a few minutes, and was about to get into the buggy, when she said, "Wait Mr. Weichman, I must get those things of Booth's." She returned to the house, and came back with a package in her hand, tied up in brown paper, about five or six inches round. Mrs. Surratt laid it on the bottom of the buggy, saying it was glass, and she was afraid of its getting wet. We then started and the buggy was halted on the road at a place where there were some pickets of soldiers. Mrs. Surratt hailed the buggy, and wanted to know how long the pickets would remain there, and she was informed they would be withdrawn at eight o'clock in the evening. Mrs. Surratt said "I am glad to know it," and we drove off. Nothing further occurred on the way to Surrattsville.

The Court took a recess until to-morrow.

Weichman's appearance upon the stand created quite a sensation. When he first appeared, he seemed to be much agitated. The prisoner fixed his eyes upon him, and looked at him steadily and without change of countenance all through the long examination. All the testimony was given slowly and with the utmost deliberation.

MAINE POLITICS.

Governor Chamberlain Re-nominated—Impeachment of the President Advocated.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

PORTLAND, June 27.—The Maine Republican State Convention was held at Augusta to-day. Ex-Governor Coney presided. Hannibal Hamlin made a speech advocating impeachment.

Governor Chamberlain was re-nominated by acclamation.

Senator Morrill, in a speech, said the President could not be trusted, and Congress did not trust him when they adjourned till July 3d, and [illegible] [illegible].

Hon. F. A. Pike addressed the convention. He said he had been stopped on his way to Washington; that Congress was going to make reconstruction so plain that the wayfaring man, though a fool, need not err. They had spent the last session in clipping the wings of the President, but if he was still disposed to soar, it might be necessary to take his political life, which can be done.

Gov. Chamberlain was introduced and accepted the nomination, pledging himself to the platform. Resolutions were adopted in favor of equal rights of all men, and of impartial suffrage, endorsing the reconstruction laws of Congress, approving the course of General Sheridan and other Department Commanders, advising the immediate funding of the national debt at the lowest practicable rate of interest, and keeping inviolate pledges of national faith, &c.

FROM GEORGIA.

Heavy Thunder Storm—Registration Progressing Quietly.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

AUGUSTA, GA., June 27.—A heavy rain storm, accompanied by thunder and lightning, took place this evening, demolishing trees, and it is feared, seriously injuring the corn and cotton.

Registration is proceeding quietly in all parts of the State. In some sections the whites appear lukewarm, but the press is urging registration as an imperative duty.

Fires in Canada—Family Burned to Death.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

[illegible], CANADA, June 27.—A fire this morning destroyed [illegible] tannery, containing one hundred and forty-four vats. Ten thousand dollars worth of bark was also destroyed. A large number of men are thrown out of employment. The loss is heavy; partially insured.

MONTREAL, June 27.—The house of an elderly man named Dassault, in the parish of Contrecoeur, took fire to-day, and he and his wife were burned to death.

Workingmen's Assembly.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ALBANY, June 27.—In the Workingmen's Assembly, to-day, a report was adopted, asking the Constitutional Convention to amend the Constitution so as to prevent the employment of children under fourteen years of age in cotton and woolen factories.

The 1st of November was selected as the day to put the eight hour law into operation.

The Buffalo Murder—Body Identified.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

BUFFALO, June 27.—The woman who was found dead at the Forest Lawn Cemetery last Tuesday night has been identified as Georgiana Cartiff, of Brantford, C. W. Her mother and stepfather reside at St. Marys, C. W. The Coroner is still investigating the case. There is no clue to the murderers.

New York Constitutional Convention.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ALBANY, June 27.—The Finance Committee of the Constitutional Convention will probably report in favor of maintaining the Financial Article of the present Constitution, and of paying off the debt of the State before contracting a new debt for works of internal improvement.

Grand Masonic Ovation.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 27.—A grand Masonic ovation, in aid of the destitute Masons of the South, came off this evening at the Academy of Music, and proved a complete and gratifying success.

Clergyman Drowned.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

BURLINGTON, VT., June 27.—Rev. S. M. Merrill was drowned in the Saranac river, at Plattsburg, last evening, by falling out of a boat while fishing.

Pennsylvania Congressman Dead.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WILKESBARRE, PA., June 27.—Hon. Charles Dennison, member of Congress from the Twelfth District, died this morning.

Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—Under the present management, this popular place of amusement is doing a thriving business—drawing full houses every night—and we suppose will continue to do so till the close of the season. To-night Mrs. Annie Sefton, the universal favorite, will take a benefit, when the great sensational drama of "East Lynn" will be presented, with Mrs. Sefton in the leading character. The evening's entertainment will conclude with the laughable farce of "Dodging for a Wife," in which Joe Sefton will be conspicuous. Saturday afternoon a matinee will be given, when the "Child Stealer" will be given, to which the admission will be twenty-five cents to all parts of the house. The "Naiad Queen" is promised for Monday night.

Singular, but True.—It is a popular superstition among some folks that the exact spot where rests the body of a drowned person can be determined by floating the shirt last worn by the deceased. It is said that the experiment was tried yesterday to discover the body of a little boy drowned while bathing in the Ohio river, with complete success. The shirt floated to a spot in the river and sunk beneath the surface immediately over the body searched for. Of course we have no faith in the superstition, but mention this circumstance as a singular fact.

Sanitary.—Pittsburgh is in wretched sanitary condition. The fault is not with the Street Commissioners or Board of Health, but with the people themselves. Every body should resolve himself into a Committee on Public Health, and do all in his power to improve matters in that direction.

Coroner's Verdict.—The jury in the case of James Keogh, who met his death last week by being crushed against the walls of the lock at Port Perry, by the steamboat "Gallatin," returned a verdict censuring the pilot and second mate for negligence in causing the accident.

New Postoffice.—The Postmaster General has established a post office at Brown's Mill, on the line of the Franklin Railroad, and appointed Andrew Dalyrimple Postmaster and J. R. Young Assistant.

Meeting of Allegheny Councils.

The Allegheny City Councils held their regular semi-monthly meeting on Thursday evening, June 27th.

SELECT COUNCIL.

Members present: Messrs. Brown, Danver, Drum, English, Hall, Motherel, Myler, McCormick, Pace, Patterson, J. C., Patterson, A., Smith, C. C., Smith, Wm., and Thomas; Mr. English in the chair.

Minutes of last meeting adopted without reading.

Mr. Drum presented a petition to open Morton alley; also a petition to pave a portion of Ohio avenue, from the railroad crossing to Fulton street, with the Nicolson pavement; also a petition to require the owners of pond lots in the First ward to have the same filled up. Read and referred to Committee on Streets.

Mr. Thomas, a petition from citizens of Chartiers and Franklin streets, asking that water pipes be laid on said streets. Referred to the Water Committee with power to act.

The Chairman submitted a communication from the City Controller, enclosing a communication from Mr. Updyke, Cashier of the Merchants' Savings Bank, requesting payment (principal and interest,) of bonds issued on the toll bridge of Manchester, amounting to $5,459, due July 1st, 1867. Referred to the Committee on Finance with power to act.

Mr. C. C. Smith, a petition from citizens on O'Hara street, asking for the grading and paving of the street, and the laying of water pipes on the same, from East Lane to Chestnut street. Referred to the Committee on streets. Common Council concurred provided it be referred to Committee on Water and Streets. Select Council receded and concurred.

Mr. Myler, Chairman of the Street Committee, to which was referred the petition and remonstrance in the matter of the opening of North Canal street, submitted a report with a resolution for the appointment of A. C. Alexander, Simeon Balford and Jacob Stuckrath, as a committee to assess the damages to be incurred in the opening of said street from Cedar avenue to Madison avenue.

The resolution was discussed at considerable length, from which it appeared that the property holders along the line of and adjacent to the proposed street were opposed to having it opened; that it was of no advantage or benefit to them, but that public necessity would soon demand its opening. The difficulty appears to be that the Railroad Company are unwilling to pay their proportion of the expenses to be incurred in opening the street.

Mr. Smith moved that the report of the Committee be accepted and the resolution stricken out.

Mr. Myler explained that the purpose of the resolution was not to have the street opened, but to appoint the commissioners in order to ascertain what amount the Railroad Company would be willing to pay, and to bring all the facts before the Council.

Mr. Brown stated that he, as a member of the Street Committee, had not been notified of its last meeting, and consequently had no knowledge of the action of said Committee as embodied in the report.

Mr. Myler, Chairman of the Committee, remarked that he was not responsible for the neglect of the Messenger to notify the member, and demanded that the Messenger be called on to explain the matter.

Mr. Drum raised the point that such a proceeding was out of order, as Councils had nothing to do with the business of the Committee.

Mr. McBrier (having appeared on the floor of Councils) contended that the Council had a right to know why the member had not been notified of the meeting of the Committee. Mr. Drum insisted on the point raised and was sustained by the Chair.

Mr. Drum then moved that that part of the report relative to North Canal street be referred back to the Committee to report, which was agreed to.

On motion of Mr. Drum, that part of the report in regard to the opening of Shields street, with the remonstrance, be referred back to the Committee.

On motion of Mr. Hall, the report of the Committee was then received.

An ordinance was presented for the laying of the modern pavement on a portion of North Avenue. Adopted.

A resolution attached to the report of the Street Committee, providing for putting in cast iron gutters at Federal street and North avenue, and for flag stone crossings at the same place, and, also, at Sandusky and Ohio streets, was read three times and passed.

Mr. Hall presented a resolution for the payment of [illegible] dollars for the horse in possession of the Grant Fire Company. Adopted. [Merely a formal matter, as the city has already paid for the horse.]

Mr. Patterson—A resolution providing for the payment of the Election Officers of the seventh ward. Adopted.

Mr. Drum presented a resolution which provides for the numbering of the houses in the Fifth and Sixth wards, and those in the other wards not yet numbered. Adopted.

Mr. J. C. Patterson: A resolution authorizing the Controller to contract for coal for the use of the city. Adopted.

Mr. Myler: A resolution to purchase a horse for the Grant Fire Company. Referred to Committee on Engines.

Mr. J. C. Patterson: A resolution instructing the Controller to have bonds prepared of the denomination of $1,000, at twenty years, to be paid out by the Finance Committee for the Manchester Extension. Referred to Committee on Finance.

The report of the Finance Committee in relation to the increase of salaries, received and accepted in S. C. June 13th, 1867, and non-concurred in in C. C., was then taken up, and, on motion, the action of Select Council adhered to.

Mr. C. C. Smith offered a resolution providing for iron gratings in the lock-up. Adopted.

COMMON COUNCIL.

The members present were Messrs. Brahm, Cutler, Drennan, Dill, Harper, Hanna, Horn, Kirkpatrick, Letzgus, McDonald, McNeill, Reiter, Reed, Smith, Voegtly, Windsor, Zoller and President Riddle.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Mr. Dill presented a petition from the citizens of the Sixth ward, praying for the grading of Ohio Avenue, from Fulton street to Sedgwick street, for the purpose of making a proper drain for the water. On motion, the petition was referred to the Committee on Streets.

Mr. Hanna presented a petition from the citizens of the First ward, asking for the opening of Rebecca street from its present terminus to Beaver street. Referred to the Committee on Streets.

Mr. Reiter presented a petition from persons residing in that portion of the Seventh ward formerly known as Reserve township, praying for the establishment of two grades in that portion of the city, and also of supplying them with better water facilities. Referred to the Committee on Streets, in conjunction with the Committee on Water.

Mr. Kirkpatrick presented a communication from the residents of that portion of Jefferson street lying between Beaver and Federal streets, remonstrating against the establishment of the grade of those streets, as the street would be greatly below the grades of the other streets above. Referred to the Street Committee.

Mr. Windsor offered a resolution authorizing the construction of a fire plug at the corner of Washington Avenue and Tremont street. On motion, the resolution was referred to the Water Committee.

Mr. Dill offered a resolution authorizing the Committee on Streets to have numbers placed on all the houses in the city not already numbered, and to invite proposals for the same. After some discussion the resolution was adopted.

The same gentleman also offered a resolution, instructing the Street Committee to have two cast iron hitching posts placed in front of the City Hall. On motion the resolution was laid on the table.

Mr. Smith offered a resolution instructing the High Constable and city police to enforce the ordinance in regard to the bathing in the Allegheny and Ohio rivers. The resolution was adopted.

Mr. Harper moved that a special committee of three be appointed to investigate into the circumstances of the case of Mrs. Mary Gennings, and to report at the next meeting. The motion was adopted, and Messrs. Harper, Windsor and Hanna appointed as the committee.

Mr. Cutler offered a resolution authorizing the erection of a gas lamp in front of the Gas Works on Rebecca street, and also one on the corner of Ohio street and Beaver avenue.

On motion, the resolution was amended by striking out that part relating to the erection of a lamp in front of the Gas Works.

Mr. Smith offered a resolution for the extension of the water pipes from East street to the old city line, on the boundary of the Third and Seventh wards, and also on West street from North avenue to First street. Referred to the Committee on Water.

Mr. Kirkpatrick offered a resolution authorizing the grading of Jefferson street, from Beaver street to Shields' alley, to be put immediately under contract. On motion, the resolution was referred to the Committee on Streets.

Mr. McNeill offered a resolution requesting the presiding officers of Councils to appoint members on the several Standing Committees from the Seventh ward. Adopted.

Mr. Kirkpatrick offered a resolution, instructing the Committee on Streets to have all the toll gates removed out of the city limits. The resolution was referred to the Street Committee in conjunction with the City Solicitor, with instructions to report.

Mr. Smith offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the City Solicitor be instructed to prepare an amendment to the city charter, to be submitted to the next Legislature, to change the present mode of representation in Council so as to apportion the members of Councils in the respective wards upon the basis of resident taxable inhabitants.

BUSINESS FROM SELECT COUNCIL.

C. C. concurred in the action of Select Council in authorizing the paving of Ohio avenue with a Nicolson pavement.

C. C. non-concurred in the action of S. C. in referring the petition relating to O'Hara street.

On motion of Mr. Smith, Council reconsidered their action in this matter, and concurred in the action of S. C.—providing that the petition be referred to the Committee on Streets, in conjunction with the Committee on Water.

C. C. non concurred in the action of S. C. in referring the petition and remonstrance relating to grading and paving of Shields street and on motion the ordinance was read three times and adopted.

C. C. non concurred in the action of S. C. in regard to the horse case in replevin, and on motion of Mr. Smith, it was amended by adopting the following resolution:

Resolved, That the General Grant Fire Company be reimbursed the amount of expenses they incurred in prosecuting to a successful termination, the suit by which they recovered the value of the horse.

C. C. non-concurred in the action of S. C. relative to the report of the Street Committee, and on motion, the report was accepted and the resolution adopted.

On motion, Council adjourned.

Grand Railway Occasion—Opening of the Allegheny Valley Railroad to Brady's Bend.

Few railways centering in Pittsburgh have more local importance attached to them than the Allegheny Valley, which, following the beautiful and fertile banks of the Allegheny, penetrates one of the richest mineral, manufacturing and agricultural districts in the broad Commonwealth. Under the excellent management of the worthy President, Wm. Phillips, Esq., who is eminently fitted for a high place amongst the leading railway kings and financiers of the country, it has of late assumed very important relations with the interests and welfare of our city. Destined eventually to tap the richest and most productive oil regions of the world, it will secure to Pittsburgh the important advantage of being one of the great oil centres.

The road has been admirably managed within a few years past, and but recently the Legislature passed a bill giving the Directors authority to increase the stock two and a half millions, in order that the road may be constructed to Oil City. Every dollar was subscribed for in Allegheny county, and hence our capitalists and citizens are deeply interested in the affairs of the road.

AN EXCURSION.

The road recently has been pushed forward to Brady's Bend, an important manufacturing site and settlement, twelve miles above the mouth of the Mahoning river, on the Allegheny. To celebrate this important addition of track, and at the same time afford an opportunity to the merchants and capitalists to examine it, an excursion was arranged for by the President and Directors of the route. There were invited from this city several hundred of our merchants and prominent citizens, who yesterday morning assembled at the depot in the Fifth ward, and at an early hour were speeding over the smooth and finished track at just sufficient speed to enable all to enjoy the SCENERY.

Had we the imagination of an artist, or the burning enthusiasm of a poet, the grandeur of the scenery along the banks of the crystal waters of the Allegheny might receive proper description at our hands. But we will not attempt to paint in words the gorgeousness, the beauty and grandeur of the scenery which is spread out by fair nature to ravish the vision and bewilder the senses. Rugged, rock studded hills, towering here and there, alternating slopes, velvet green meadows, and anon murmuring brooks laughingly rushing onward to the bosom of the clear, mirrorlike waters of the Allegheny, combine to form such a panorama as the enthusiast might glory in comparing with more famous sceneries in sunnier lands. Tourists should not fail passing over this road for, we believe, no where else in the country can more magnificent views be obtained.

KITTANNING.

The train rolled past various beautiful stations, where wealthy citizens have their dwellings, in order to enjoy pure air outside the smoky atmosphere of the city. Some of the residences are very fine and betoken enjoyment, comfort and luxury within. Here and there we found oil refineries perched on the banks of the river, busy refining the greasy products of mother earth. Some of the refineries are large and well constructed, and we presume are as complete as any in the country.

The business in oil refining is greater on this road than any other in this neighborhood. Yearly thousands upon thousands of barrels are transferred over the road and forwarded from this city to the principal trade points east and west. At Kittanning, which is one of the cleanest, neatest and most enterprising of towns in Pennsylvania, the excursionists were joined by some fifty gentlemen from Clarion county, who had reached Kittanning by stage coaches. We observed among the number Captain Samuel Young, the able editor of the Clarion Banner. The train stopped but a few minutes at this point, and with a shrill whistle and shriek again moved off amid the cheers of a large number of Kittanningites who had assembled at the depot to exchange courtesies and welcomes with the guests. The scenery between Kittanning and Brady's Bend is very fine, in keeping with that we noticed between this city and the former town.

BRADY'S BEND.

Arriving about noon at Brady's Bend, the excursionists, for the while, quitted the luxurious cars and took a boat, something akin to Noah's ark, and were ferried across to the village. As soon as their feet again touched ground, the visitors were cordially welcomed by the Superintendent of the Brady's Bend Iron Works and escorted to the extensive mills. Here they found in full operation one of the largest and most complete rolling mills in Pennsylvania. The buildings are all of wood and differ little from the great iron works in the neighborhood of our own city. The grounds owned by the Company cover fifty-three hundred acres, and contain very valuable minerals. The materials for the production of iron, viz: coal, iron ore, limestone and fire-clay are all in one immense "natural basket," or hill, from which they are mined by the employes of the Company. This is a rare advantage, and one only likewise enjoyed by few mills in the State. In the mill a special object of attraction is a blowing engine, which is considered the finest of its character in the country. It blows for three furnaces, carries thirty-five pounds steam to the square inch, and forces air to the furnace three pounds to the square inch. We were much pleased with the peculiar arrangement of the "cut off," which is the most ingenious and economical arrangement we have ever noticed. The mill transacts a large business annually, turning out twenty five thousand tons per year of iron, keeps four blast furnaces, twenty-five puddle furnaces, ten heating furnaces and five trains of wrought in continual operation, giving employment to fourteen hundred hands. There are five hundred and thirty tenement houses and necessary stores surrounding the works, which form the village of Brady's Bend.

A DINNER.

At a large and commodious ware house dinner was in readiness for the guests on their return from the examination of the mill. The tables were groaning beneath the weight of the most tempting of viands and delicacies—the best the markets could afford. It was gotten up by John Hanna, Esq., and the ladies of Brady's Bend. The guests, numbering perhaps five hundred, after the blessing of Heaven had been invoked by Rev. B. F. Brown, of Clarion, sat down to the sumptuous meal and did it full justice, nor neglected they the tempting champaigns and sparkling catawbas which were brought in bottles in such rapid succession to the table.

A MEETING.

After dinner the excursionists held an informal meeting, at which James E. Brown, Esq., of Kittanning, president, and Jacob Hennessey, of Beaver, General R. Orr, and Judge Buffington, of Kittanning, Vice Presidents, and the reporters of the press acted as Secretaries. On taking the chair the President made a few pertinent remarks, after which Colonel Davis, of Philadelphia, was called upon for a speech. He arose and delivered a brief speech, in which he reverted to the days gone bye, when railroads were scarcer, in the most pleasant manner. He felt that Pittsburgh was greatly interested in the completion of the Allegheny Valley road, as it would afford her another outlet to the great East. He was in favor of a free railroad law, and believed that railroads should be build when and where her citizens desired. He paid a high compliment to President Phillips for his able management of the road and its affairs. He concluded his able address with the following sentiment: "Pennsylvania—built on pillars of iron, heated with mountains of coal, and lubricated with rivers of oil."

Col. J. B. Sweitzer was next introduced, being loudly called for, and made a very happy speech, complimenting the road and Col. Phillips on its management.

Gen. John Scott, of Kittanning, followed in an eloquent and telling speech, which was listened to with much attention.

Esquire Steel was loudly called for and led to the stand by Messrs. Armstrong, Sawyer and Mattern—Mr. Steel was received with tumultuous applause, and spoke as follows:

Mr. Chairman, I hardly know what our boisterous and merry friends desire. Not being at the sumptuous feast so lately discussed, I was not present when this meeting organized, nor do I know what has been said or done, but I presume it is the same common subject we are here to celebrate, and which is so dear to our hearts. The objective points of the Allegheny Valley Railroad is the timber, iron and oil regions of the Allegheny Valley, and the base of operations, Pittsburgh. Allow me to say that to the distinguished President, Colonel Phillips, we are chiefly indebted for the great success attending the operations of the road thus far, and for its certain completion in a few months. The people of Pittsburgh, at the instance of Col. Phillips, subscribed two million four hundred thousand dollars, he probably being the only gentleman in Allegheny county who could inspire them with a certainty of success, and thus induce our men of wealth to invest so heavily in the great enterprise.

Again we would say to our friends in the Valley, that such is the confidence reposed in the President of the road that, in case it was necessary the people of Pittsburgh and the consolidated city which we expect to have, together with the people of Allegheny county, would subscribe another two million four hundred thousand dollars.

Felix R. Brunot, J. Milnor Roberts, Esqs., Col. Young, W. W. Barr, and others, made pertinent addresses in response to calls, after which the meeting adjourned.

HOME AGAIN.

The excursionists now departed for their homes, and by eight o'clock in the evening were brought into the Depot on Pike street. The train was in charge of Mr. W. A. Lee, one of the most careful and attentive conductors of the road. We are indebted to John H. Hains, Esq., the able superintendent of the Brady's Bend Iron Works, and to the officers of the Allegheny Valley road, especially Col. Phillips, for courtesies extended.

Fatal Accident.

Yesterday morning at about eight o'clock, as the Cleveland and Pittsburgh Accommodation train going west, was approaching Dixmont Station, an old lady, named Mrs. Abigal Ferris, attempted to cross the track, the engine struck her, throwing her body to one side and killing her instantly. An inquest was held on the body by Alderman Irwin, of the Ninth ward. The testimony went to show that the accident could not have been avoided by the train officials, as proper signals were given in due time to warn the unfortunate lady of the danger. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death, fully exonerating the company from all blame. The deceased was an estimable old lady, and resided with her husband in the neighborhood of Dixmont.

Close of the Session.—The Pittsburgh Female College last night closed a highly successful and prosperous term, with appropriate exercises in Christ M. E. Church. Few places in America for the education of girls presents equal attraction to parents and guardians, as this well managed and praiseworthy College. Every department is in charge of the very ablest and most experienced tutors, and no where else can a better moral and complete education be obtained. The President of the Faculty, Rev. Dr. I. C. Pershing, deserves the credit of having placed the College among the first, if not the very first, Female College in our land, as he has ever labored earnestly and industriously to that end. The girls will take their departure for their homes to-day.

The Shooting Affair on the South Side—Not a Homicide.

In Thursday's GAZETTE we noticed the fact of the shooting, on the south side of the Monongahela river, at a late hour Wednesday night, of Patrick Graham by Michael Leonard, stating that it was likely to result in a homicide. Fortunately, however, the injury is not considered fatal, although the circumstances of the shooting seem to indicate that the assailant had murder in his heart. The particulars are as follows:

Graham resides in West Pittsburgh, is President of the Boilers' Union, and was employed at Zug's iron mill, in the Fifth ward. Leonard is a carpenter, also resides in West Pittsburgh, and was in the employ of Richardson & Co., in the city. Wednesday night, shortly before eleven o'clock, Graham, while on his way home from work, entered the "Trades Union House," a saloon, kept by T. McQuaid, his brother-in-law, near the Clinton Iron Works, and there met Leonard, who had been engaged doing some work in the house, working after regular hours. They were not on good terms, arising out of an occurrence some two or three years since. A fight had taken place, and Graham, aroused from his bed, went out to separate the parties. Leonard was there, and handed a knife to one of the parties, telling him to cut out the heart of his antagonist or any one who interfered. It was this circumstance that caused Graham to dislike Leonard. Soon after Graham entered the saloon, Leonard invited him to take a drink with him. He refused, and remarked that he did consider Leonard a gentleman, whereupon Leonard threw a tumbler at him, missing his aim. To this Graham seemed to pay but little attention, and walked to the door, Leonard following, apparently intent on a quarrel, saying he could whip Graham or any other man like him. Graham did not accept this challenge, remarking that he would fight with no such man. Both left the house, Graham in a little time after Leonard, going towards his home, on the hillside, down the river from the saloon, and reached by a path across the railroad. Graham went on this path, after leaving Leonard, and while passing on the railroad he was fired on from behind, by a person concealed in the recess or crevice of a rock on the hill side. Graham recollects of but one, but persons in the neighborhood at the time state they distinctly heard four shots. The first, it would seem, took effect in the back part of Graham's head, passing round the scalp to the forehead above the left eye. Another bullet struck the corner of the left eye, cutting the skin. After this unmistakably murderous attempt, Leonard, it would appear, left his place of concealment and went to Graham, who, although he had fallen down, was not insensible. Leonard addressed him, asking what was the matter, and then passed on to his residence, close by on the river bank. Graham's cries of "murder," "help," distinctly heard across the river by the night police, brought McQuaid, his brother-in-law, and others to his assistance; but those who first reached him were from the city, crossing the river in a skiff. Graham having been removed to his residence, Dr. Roberts, of South Pittsburgh, was called and examined his injuries, which he pronounced not necessarily fatal.

The circumstances pointing to Leonard as the assailant, his house was surrounded by citizens, thus preventing him escaping. Justice Barker had been aroused, and took the wounded man's information, upon which Leonard was taken into custody by constables Patrick Duffy and John Stemboer. He made a show of resistance, threatening to shoot any one who approached him, which, however, he did not attempt. When taken before the Justice he denied most positively that he was the person who shot Graham. He was committed for a further hearing.

Science and Empiricism.

The former consists in knowledge properly arranged, and governed by fixed rules and laws, whilst the latter is merely an incongruous collection of facts, or supposed facts, without any regard either to method or rule. The one may be successful by accident, or something bordering on it, but the other is as sure as the movements of the planets in their stations. The human body has laws which govern all its functions, and any departure from these is manifested by ill health or disease. True health depends on the harmony and regularity of every function as well as the needful supply of elementary matter which goes to repair the loss which is hourly. The flesh, the nails, the very hairs are formed—and when it is charged with excrementitious matter, the system will go to decay for want of the proper sustenance. There is nothing more certainly true in medical science than this fact. Nature, it is true, is strong and powerful in her tendency to shake off disease and re-establish health, but nature sometimes needs help—and of all the helps ever discovered to give tone and energy to the over burdened and languishing functions of life, there is none equal to DR. KEYSER'S BLOOD SEARCHER. The great cures that it has performed in this city alone, ought to stamp it high on the roll of fame and establish it as one of the greatest boons ever given to man. By the wonderful invigorating qualities of Dr. Keyser's Blood Searcher, the weak and infirm who for years have suffered untold agonies, are restored to renewed health and vigor. The confirmed dyspeptic once more relishes his food, and exults in a long lost appetite. The rheumatic no longer bends under violent and painful inflictions. Terrible and long standing Neuralgias are banished, and the aching and tortured nerves are restored, by having the blood restored to its prime and healthful state. There is no chronic disease of a non-febrile character that it will not cure, and it has restored to health and comfort many right here in Pittsburgh whose cures were regarded as hopeless. Ask for Dr. Keyser's and take no other, at 140 Wood street. Office and consultation rooms for all chronic diseases No. 120 Penn street, from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m.

Bishop Bowman Institute.

The closing exercises of this school took place yesterday at 10:30 A. M. The Rev. Dr. Rickey made an admirable address to the young ladies, on the importance of using well their time and the advantages of culture afforded them in such a well ordered school.

The Rector, Rev. R. J. Coster, said a few words of parting to his pupils, and then, after wishing them all a pleasant vacation, read the names of the young ladies who stand first in their respective classes, and complimented others on the regularity and punctuality of their attendance.

Bishop Kerfoot was present and added a few words of fatherly counsel and encouragement, and gave notice that next session he intended to provide two prizes to be given to the young ladies who shall be most proficient in their studies and prepare the best compositions on assigned subjects.

The Bishop pronounced the benediction, and then pupils and teachers parted for the summer, with many expressions of mutual attachment. The year has been a very successful one, and the School gives promise of great usefulness in promoting a high grade of female education.

Allegheny City Schools.

The total enrolment of pupils in the schools of Allegheny City, during the year ending June 1st, 1857, was 6,049, of which 2,972 were new scholars. The average enrolment was 4,677, and the total average attendance 3,341. The tax for educational purposes is levied by the Board of Control, and is therefore equalized throughout the city, being eight mills. The total amount of tax laid for educational and building purposes was $52,045.05, and the amount expended for teachers salaries, new buildings, etc., was $53,027.37. In addition to the sum collected during the year, $2,398.16 from unpaid taxes of former years was collected, which with the State appropriation, $2,555, would make an aggregate of $56,999.05. The expenses of the colored school, and the expenses of the Board of Control—which include salaries of the Secretary of the Board, Janitor, printing, stationary, etc., are paid from the educational fund collected in the city.

Change of Ecclesiastical Relations, and Prospective Union of Presbyterian Churches.

At a meeting of the Reformed Presbytery of Pittsburgh, held in New Castle on Wednesday, the 26th of June, Rev. David Patton, of Cochranton, and his congregation, were dismissed to unite with the Erie Presbytery of the (O. S.) Presbyterian Church.

At the same meeting Rev. W. T. Wylie, of New Castle, and his congregation, were dismissed to unite with the (New School) Presbytery of Pittsburgh.

At the same meeting Rev. John McMillan, Pastor of the First Reformed Presbyterian Church, Allegheny, and Thomas Smith, Esq., Ruling Elder of the First Reformed Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh, were appointed to represent the "Pittsburgh Reformed Presbytery" in the Convention of Presbyterian Churches, to be held in Philadelphia on the second Wednesday of September next.

Fire.—An alarm of fire was sounded from box 31, about eight o'clock last night, and was promptly answered by several of the steamers. The fire, which was in the R[illegible] House, corner of Liberty and Canal streets, originated in a room in the back part of the building, occupied by servant girls, one of whom had gone into the room with a candle, which she left sitting close to the window, from which the blind took fire and was entirely consumed. No other damage was done, however, as the fire was extinguished with a bucket of water by one of the employes of the house.

Manchester Tax Payers.—The tax payers of the late borough of Manchester should bear in mind that all legal taxes formerly [illegible] to the borough authorities, are now payable at the office of David Macferron, Esq., Treasurer of Allegheny city. Some difference of opinion has existed in regard to the matter, but the above statement is from official sources.

Distressing Casualty at a Pic-Nic.—Yesterday, at a pic-nic held at McKee's Rocks, for the scholars of Rev. Brown's United Presbyterian Church Sabbath School, by the teachers, a heart-rending case of drowning took place. The teachers had much difficulty in keeping the little boys of the school from availing themselves of the opportunity to go in swimming in the Ohio river, on the bank of which the picnic was held. While the teachers were not watching the lads, they stole to the river and some eight or nine went into the water. Two little fellows ventured beyond their depth and were swept into the current. Neither could swim, and their comrades hastily shoved out a skiff to rescue them. One, a lad named Carpenter, was rescued as he was going down the second time, but the other, a bright little boy, only nine years of age, son of Major William Munroe, of Munroe & Watson, sunk to rise no more. The body was recovered immediately after and brought home to the residence of his parents, Chatham street, in the Sixth ward. The sad accident destroyed the happiness of all present at the pic nic, and all returned to their homes with hearts heavy with sorrow.

Harlem Springs, Carrol Co., Ohio.—These springs, in connection with the Rural Seminary buildings, will be opened for visitors and boarders on the first of July. It is not now intended as a place of fashionable resort, but a place suiting the demands of those seeking a quiet, healthful, retired and inexpensive retreat, free from smoke and dust. The groves are dense, the scenery peculiarly beautiful, and the locality and mineral waters, noted for their health imparting qualities. Visitors from Pittsburgh, Steubenville, Wheeling and Cincinnati, will come via New Market Station, on the P. C. & C. R. R., distant by hack from two to three hours. For particulars, address, A. D. The Pittsburgh Gazette

FRIDAY, JUNE 28, 1867.

UNION REPUBLICAN NOMINATION.

FOR JUDGE OF SUPREME COURT:

HON. H. W. WILLIAMS,

Of Allegheny County.

WHEN MR. JOHNSON, shortly after entering upon the duties of the Presidency, commenced his revolutionary contest with Congress, he had considerable advantages in his favor. During the war the patronage of the government had swollen to an enormous volume. The Internal Revenue system alone had created a larger number of offices of pecuniary value than all which had previously existed. In the distribution of this patronage, new and old, the President had by usage, as well as by the Constitution, much authority. He relied upon it, and not without cause. He further counted on the cupidity of politicians, and therein he was disappointed. Fewer men were found who were ready to barter their convictions for appointments than he had conjectured; at least of the sort any man charged with so important a trust as the Chief Magistracy would be willing to trust and endow. Whatever advantages the President had, he wielded with remarkable energy and no little skill; for he was experienced in political management, and was surrounded by able and subtle counsellors. But he really accomplished none of the ends at which he aimed. He excited hopes in the breasts of many of the Southern people, which were doomed to swift disappointment. He stirred up contention in all parts of the country, which hindered the work of reconstructing the Union, which is earnestly desired by all judicious citizens at the earliest moment consistent with sound prudence. He encouraged bad men in some localities throughout the revolted States to renew scenes of violence and bloodshed, which led to the imposition of harsher conditions on the revolted States than had been deemed necessary. But his Policy was rejected in all its material points. He was baffled, hedged about, and shorn of power and influence. He was detested at the North, and distrusted at the South.

As a natural consequence of his signal failure, the Southern people were settling down into a commendable and promising frame of mind. They were inclining more and more to accept the Congressional plan in good faith; to reorganise their local governments in conformity therewith; and were in a fair way, in the course of six months, to find their States restored to full participation in the Government. It was not long to wait. If infelicities existed in the Southern States they were attributable not to military supervision, but to the antecedent facts which made military interposition essential to the public safety. Nor was it of special consequence that all the commanders should construe the Military Government Law precisely alike, in all its details. Different circumstances in the several departments led to differences of administration. In a permanent system this might have been objectionable, but this system was not permanent. From the nature of the case, it was destined to be put aside in a shorter space than would be required to superinduce perfect uniformity under it.

Considering all these facts, the renewal of the contest with Congress by the President cannot be regarded in any other light than that of downright infatuation. He ought to have foreseen that to re-open the struggle would only expose him to fresh defeat and humiliation, and would be mischievous to all the great interests of the nation, commercial, financial and manufacturing, as well as political. It [illegible] that the infatuation of the [illegible] was so profound that he [illegible] intentions while [illegible] for Congress to meet [illegible]ournment. This prec[illegible] country from a pr[illegible] the Southern States [illegible] probation. It is n[illegible] Congress shall exhibit a [illegible]n. It would be most unjust to make the conduct of the President a pretext for laying additional disabilities on the Southern States or people. They are not at fault in this matter. What is necessary is to interpret the existing law so that neither the President nor his Cabinet can misconstrue it, and so as to make the military commanders, as they were designed to be in the discharge of this particular duty, the executors of the law and not instruments amenable to the Executive. This done, the work of Reconstruction will proceed to a happy consummation. And here it is desirable Congress should stop. There are many and weighty reasons why no business should be entered upon except that which constrains the reassembling of the Houses; and no good reason can be assigned why any other business should be taken up. The convenience of the members and the welfare of the country will alike be promoted by bringing the special session to a close within ten days of its commencement.

GENERAL SHERIDAN does not understand that he is at New Orleans as a satrap of the President, and amenable to him for the manner in which he executes the special duty with which he is charged. On the contrary, he understands that he is there to carry into effect a law, passed to meet a great emergency, and to which law the President was and is hostile. He rightly holds that the law, as it stands distinctly written on the statute book, is his guide, in this special matter, and not instructions which the President may see fit to give him.

Unquestionably the President is made by the Constitution the Commander-in-Chief of the Army. But in that capacity, as in all others, the President is as absolutely subject to the laws as any private in the ranks. It would certainly be straining a point to urge that a subordinate was bound to obey an order his superior had no right to give. Such a rule was, indeed, once maintained in the military service; but only under despotic governments. In a republic, it is clearly the duty of a subordinate, when ordered to do an act in violation of law, to take the responsibility of refusing. In cases of great risk, this course would require high personal qualities and uncommon patriotism. Situated as Gen. SHERIDAN is, the risk is small; for he has both the letter and spirit of the law on his side, and, in addition, has both Congress and the loyal masses of his fellow-citizens. His standing by the law instead of adhering to the President, can work him no injury, and will result in much public good.

THERE ARE REPORTS in circulation to injure the credit of many of the National Banks at the West and Southwest, especially those which are depositaries of public moneys. It is alleged in general terms that these institutions have not confined their operations within the limits of legitimate and safe banking; but have extended aid to gigantic speculations, taking necessarily a large measure of the risk incidental thereto. Hints are thrown out that recent disclosures in this regard at New Orleans may reasonably be anticipated elswhere; and the demand is made that Congress, at its next regular session, shall give the system a thorough overhauling.

It was recently stated that the National Banks were collecting a fund, of formidable amount, designed to be used in subsidizing members of Congress to refrain from abridging any of the privileges now enjoyed by those institutions; and especially to induce them not to revoke the whole banking system, substituting therefor a scheme of Treasury orders and an increased issue of legal tender notes. Whether there is much or little truth in these suggestions, we have no means of determining. But we see no reason to apprehend the abrogation, or even a material modification of the banking system, unless frequent failures shall beget a general suspicion of unsoundness.

Mr. Cobden on American Affairs.

In the Northern Monthly and New Jersey Magazine, for July, there is an article by James M. Scovel, giving an account of "A Day with Richard Cobden," whom the writer visited in December, 1863. The conversation turned naturally on American affairs, and Mr. Cobden gave his opinion freely of many of our distinguished public men. Mr. Seward he seemed to consider a "light weight," with a "fatal fluency" with his pen, a man "who wrote too much and thought too little, an adroit and successful politician, not a first class statesman—in short, a sort of American Palmerston." When Mr. Cobden first visited the United States, Senator Mason, who liked his free trade notions, carried his courtesy so far as to invite him to take a glass of whisky "from some point in the immediate neighborhood of his place in the Senate;" and shortly after, Mr. Seward happening to cross the Senate, Mason turned to Cobden, drew himself up with great haughtiness, and said, "A profligate demagogue, that!"

Of Wendell Phillips Mr. Cobden seemed to have an exalted opinion. He was not sure that he was not "the foremost thinker in America," and "he was very clear that Phillips was the best man in America to send to England to give the English an idea of the length and breadth of our struggle for free government"—that his "clear, ringing sentences," "his terse, epigrammatic style would make friends for America wherever he went." Abraham Lincoln had, he thought, acted with great prudence and dignity, and he considered that the election of 1864 would decide the fate of the Republic. He seemed to have "a lurking tenderness for McClellan," but it seems to us that this was somewhat incompatible with his appreciation of the "clear, ringing sentences" of Wendell Phillips. He considered that the anxieties consequent on the rebellion were killing its leaders, and thought that Alexander H. Stephens would outlive the others, because his heart was not in the work.

Pipes.

Pipes have, within a few years, made a marked advance in the esteem of fastidious smokers, and the genius of European manufacturers has been tasked to produce pipes of sufficient costliness and oddity of pattern to satisfy the prodigal tastes of young American fumeurs. One dealer in Boston has a pipe which cost in Vienna, where most meerschaums are made, $1,000. It is for ornament, not use. Pipes worth, or rather valued at $100, are quite common; but the majority of meerchaums in use vary in price from $5 to $20. Size and design determine the price, though the stage of color often has a material bearing thereon. Business men, especially those who have offices, like lawyers, are familiar with a certain class of visitors, ordinarily of an olive complexion, hocked noses and a foreign accent, who enter with an appearance of great humility and hesitation, and produce from a bandanna handkerchief, with tender care, a huge meerschaum of the exact hue loved and aimed at by smokers. It is a mammoth pipe, with a long cherry wooden stem, and the sight of it arouses in the bosom of the unsophisticated beholder emotions of intense covetousness. The stranger exhibits his treasure with the pride of a fond parent showing off his hopeful son, praises its beauty and extols its flavor; only the direst necessity compels him to offer it for sale; it is valued at $50, but he must dispose of it—will the gentleman give him $25 for this prince of pipes? If you offer him $5 he snaps at it, and gets off in haste. When you come to examine your prize you find it mere "chip," the refuse of meerschaum clay, colored artificially, and worth, perhaps, fifty cents.

A Reminiscence of Slavery.

A little more than twelve years ago a person well known in Washington became embarrassed, and his property in human flesh was sold under the hammer to pay gambling debts. One young woman was sold to a person who took her to New Orleans, while her two infant children (the oldest two years of age) were sold to a planter residing in one of the lower counties of Maryland. Mother and children separated for life, as was then supposed. The war came on; those in bonds were set free, and recently this poor slave mother arrived in Washington in search of her long lost offspring. Twelve years absence had not healed the wound in that mother's heart, but she still yearned to press the children of her youth to her bosom. Four weeks ago she found them in Maryland, the eldest, now fourteen years old, bound out for twelve dollars per year. The mother demanded her child, and was threatened in response to this demand with personal violence—was, in fact, driven from the place, and was told, moreover, that "if niggers were free in Louisiana they were not free in Maryland." The poor woman sought out Gen. Howard, and through his agency, a few days since, the long lost girl was restored to her almost distracted mother. With characteristic meanness, the person to whom this child was bound refuses to pay the wages due, and legal steps have been taken to recover the amount.—Washington Chronicle.

THE Mechanics' Magazine says: "A remarkable mechanical curiosity has recently been constructed in London. It is a watch belonging to a member of Parliament, and designed and made expressly for him by James Ferguson Cole, the celebrated London watchmaker. This unique pocket chronometer has a silver dial, on which are nine hands, indicating respectively the hours, minutes and seconds, the days of the week, the days of the month, and the months of the year. It corrects itself for unequal months—that is to say, changes, when they have thirty and when thirty one days, and also corrects itself for leap year. It is so constructed that any slight agitation of the watch, such as the ordinary exercise of walking, winds it up. Thus it may be worn and will go perfectly for years without requiring to be opened, although it can be wound by a key in the usual manner. The dial is arranged in five circles, and within the largest (the hour circle) there is a semicircle showing the moon's age and phases by means of gold on a ground of blue steel. At the back of the watch is a gold indicator for ascertaining the time in the dark by touch. The complication of the mechanism may be imagined, and yet the watch is of ordinary dimensions, and may be conveniently worn in a gentleman's pocket. It cost the sum of three hundred guineas."

THE New York World says: It cannot have escaped the attention of the readers of religious, as well as secular journals, that there is in the country, and especially in New England, a frightful prevalence of a hidden crime. This crime is fœticide. Its spread excites a general and well-founded alarm. At least one religious denomination has touched upon the topic in the pulpit, as well as pressed it upon the attention of its people in private. Mr. Horace Greeley has made it the subject of a recent article in the Independent. Other exponents of the public alarm appear in the numerous publications, mostly printed in Boston, which show the extent of the crime and suggest means for its suppression. Dr. Blanchard Fosgate, formerly physician to the New York State Prison, at Auburn, classes it among the recent causes for the increase of crime in general in greater ratio than the increase of population in this country would seem to warrant. Dr. H. G. Stover, of Boston, has written a book on the subject, which shows that the people of Massachusetts, in respect of this particular crime, in the villages as well as in the cities, "are nearly twice as corrupt as the population of France, and eight-fold more depraved than that of the City of New York."

TWO BROTHERS LYNCHED IN WESTERN IOWA.—Two brothers, sons of Patrick Lawn, of Glenwood, were on a visit at their father's home. They had a spree or two, whipped some fellow and threatened the lives of some others for hanging a brother-in-law two or three years ago; some one claims to have been shot at—supposed that Patrick and William Lawn did the shooting; the men of Mills county were terrified—slept on their guns and pistols as a protection, &c. This is the report as against the Lawn boys, true or false. The boys, however, became weary of Glenwood, and they started for the mountains, arrived in Council Bluffs, and took up quarters at the Farmers' Hotel. On Friday morning, at a very early hour, some men—reported to number fifteen or twenty—from Glenwood and vicinity, arrived in our city, and, on finding the quarters of Patrick and William Lawn, seized them, rushed them to a wagon, carried them off, amid shouts of murder, &c., and, after having reached the edge of Mills county, hung them to a tree.—Council Bluffs Bugle, June 20.

—The Lloyd's Statistic Committee have closed the list of accidents and shipwrecks for the year 1866. The total of disasters amounts to 11,711. Total loss of vessels and steamboats 2,234. Total loss of lives 2,644. But the Committee believes the losses still to excede the figures of their list.

Breeding Poultry.

Phil. Million, in the Country Gentleman, gives some timely hints on the care necessary in improving poultry:

Now that the important season of hatching has come again, a few words on the breeding of poultry may perhaps be acceptable, even if there is nothing new to be said on the subject.

The same general principles which govern in the breeding of other domestic animals are applicable also in the management of poultry. The most of our farmers, at least here in the west, seem to forget that chickens will as surely degenerate by constantly breeding from the same stock as will cattle or hogs by the same course.

Degeneracy in poultry manifests itself sooner in no other way than by the lessened fecundity of the hen and the inferiority in size and quality of the eggs. Shelter at night and during wet and stormy weather, appropriate food, good water, plenty of lime and ashes and sand, contentment and cleanliness, are all essential to the abundant production of large and good eggs, but with all these, we will still be disappointed if we neglect to infuse into our stock fresh blood from year to year.

To increase the average number of eggs per hen we must, of course, "weed out" the poor layers. Of a given number of pullets hatched at the same time, some may commence laying much sooner than others, some may lay larger eggs, some more frequently, while others may continue to lay longer. By a little attention on the part of the person who has charge of them, the peculiarity of each hen in these respects may be known. Choose those combining the most good qualities, and breed from them only. Repeat this process from year to year, and if the greatest number of eggs is the chief object sought, cultivate the laying propensities of your flock, by selecting those hens which lay most frequently and continue to lay the longest. Yet, where eggs and chickens are both objects of profit, the "everlasting layers" are not desirable, to the exclusion of all others. For rearing chickens, you will need some hens of a gentle and peaceable disposition, and not such as will try to kill every stray chick that happens to get into the wrong coop. Such ill-tempered hens are thought by some to be more watchful against cats or other enemies, but I find they lose more chicks than the more quiet hens, for when a cat presents itself at the coop, and Madame Spitfire commences her warlike demonstrations, she is almost sure to drive every chick out, and that is just what the attacking party wants. On the other hand, Madame quiet retains her "po-ish" in the far end of the coop, with her brood under her wings, as if conscious of her safety, and if the coop is properly constructed, she is safe.

In selecting breeding stock, have an eye to plumage, for it is an admitted fact among poulterers that "fine feathers cover fine flesh." Select, also, from among the early broods. To kill off all the early chickens and save only the late ones for the next year is a mistake too frequently practiced on some farms. For the sake of having eggs in December, some will manage to keep a few of the early pullets, but as for the roosters, as they don't lay anyhow, it is thought a July hatched chick will be big enough to crow by the following February, and that is all that is required.

Early roosters, as well as early pullets, are the ones to save, if we wish to improve our poultry from year to year.

Well bred poultry is scarce here, hence it is harder for us than for Eastern farmers to keep up our stock. I find, however, it pays as well, in proportion to the investment, to send East for eggs to set occasionally, as it does to import short horns or Chester whites. Yet let no farmer's wife or daughter, or son, as the case may be, who has the care of the poultry, despair of its improvement, because the farmer himself cannot see that there is a science in rearing chickens as well as in rearing colts, and will not, therefore, consent to the purchase of a few eggs, or a pair or trio of choice fowls every year or two. If you cannot do this, then exchange eggs with your neighbors, and be all the more persevering. Take special care of the chicks thus obtained, and select from among them the best roosters, while from your own stock select your pullets or vice versa.

A Literary Curiosity.

Two terribly tired travelers toiled through tangled thickets, thickly thorned, toward the Taliuru turnpike telling touching tales, theoretically told, to those that thought themselves thoroughly theoretical tacticians. Therefore, the throng that threw themselves thickening thitherward thought them Thespians. Thraso-like they thundered thrasonically their thriftless threnodies. Thirsty they tippled together. Their tractability told them tolerably tolerant. Their tortuosity, too, transfigured the Talitans timorously. Their tiaras, that Tiffany toilfully trimmed till the topaz trembled therein, took the throng. The tokay that they took, trying the tavern-table, told terribly—tinting, tingling, troubling their thoughts—till their tintinnabulary tones tortured the tired townsmen; they thereupon thrashed the tipsy tyronian tyros through the town. They tittered thereat, therefore thereupon the tomtits twittered touchingly, transporting thereby the thoughtless throng to that transitory tranquility that thoroughly transcends the terrific trance. Two trashy trappers, tugging two terrible trydactile tigers, took three triennial tulips to the theologic teachers there, telling them that theorems theoretically treated tended toward tiring the too thoughtful theologians; that, therefore, theology thetically tinctured thoroughly throttled the thin thesis that theophany throws theurgy to the thoughtless. Their tedious trifling teased the teachers terribly, though their theories taxed their theosophy throughout, therefore the turnkey took the two to the trap. The tailor trimmed them tastefully, their testimony taken tachigraphically, taborer tabooed them, till their taciturnity turned to the tallest talking. These trying things turned their tantrums to thoughtful tameness. The tigers thereupon took to the thickets, the trappers to the tollgate. Tardily they tendered the tax; tartly throwing the testy taxer the two tents, they tawdrily took to their travels. The Thespians tarried—to tell the truth their tendencies tendering their tickets to tempt the town. The [illegible] thronged the taphouse talking theatrically. The tavern thronged, the town tattlers told tautological tales, ten times tensible, tense, terse, thickly tinged, titilating, tissued to tickle the thoughtless. The theatre took—"The Tempter's Toils" threw the theatre-tending town to transcendentalism. The town-clerk, town-crier, towns-man, town-tinman, town-tinker, town-tailor, town-turnkey, tous, turned theatrically topsy-turvy.

NO NAME.

Many, many people, suffer from they know not what. They are not sick—they are not well. There is no name for it. It is simply weakness—a breaking down of the vital forces. Whatever its causes, (and they are innumerable,) its symptoms are in the main the same. Among the most prominent are extreme lassitude, loss of appetite, loss of flesh and great mental depression. Indigestion and a Stomach Cough are also frequently concomitants of this distressing state of body and mind. The common remark in relation to persons in such a condition is, that they are consumptive. Now, what these unfortunates really want is vigor, vital strength; and as certainly as dawn succeeds darkness, they can recuperate their systems and regain perfect health by resorting to HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED BITTERS. It is as clear that a life-reviving tonic is required in such cases, as that the dying flame of an empty lamp requires to be revived with a new supply of oil. Perfectly pure and innocuous, containing nothing but the most genial vegetable extracts, and combining the three grand elements of a stomachic, an alterative, and a genial invigorant, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS are suitable to all constitutions, and are as applicable to the diseases and disabilities of the feebler sex as to those of men.

PINUS CANADENSIS.

A tree which is abundant in Canada, Nova Scotia, and the more northern parts of the New England States, and is also found in the elevated and mountainous regions of the Middle States, and abounds in medicinal virtues. Dr. Swett, of Boston, has prepared a medicine from the sweet inside bark of the pine tree, called POLAND'S WHITE PINE COMPOUND, which is one of rare value in all debilitated states of the kidneys. It acts like a charm in all diseases of mucous membranes, enabling them to regain their lost tone and energy. It will be found well adapted to all those diseases, where Buchu has been tried and failed. It is likewise well suited to chronic coughs, and an infallible specific for old and debilitated cases of asthma. Many persons who at first only took a bottle of this medicine, to try, afterwards came back and got a dozen, or half dozen, which effected radical cures of diseases of the bladder and kidney of years standing.

Diabetes, a disease that has been looked upon as among the incurables, is immediately relieved by it. Notice the certificate of Asa Goodnue, published some time ago.

The United States Dispensatory, speaking of the pine, says: "It is prescribed in leucorrhea, gleet, and other diseases of the urinary passages; in piles and chronic inflammation or ulceration of the bowels, in chronic catarrhal affections, and in various forms of rheumatism." It is exceedingly valuable in all gravelly affections, bloody urine, and where there is red and white sediment it can be taken without interruption to one's usual avocations, and instead of sickening, produces a bracing, healthy power of endurance and vigor. Price, $1 per bottle; six for $5.

Ask for POLAND'S WHITE PINE COMPOUND. For sale by the gross, dozen or single bottle, at DR. KEYSER'S Great Medicine Store, 140 Wood street. ap20

THE COURTS

Court of Quarter Sessions.

[Fourth Week.]

This Court met Thursday at ten o'clock, Hon. Thomas Mellon on the bench, Col. L. B. Duff, District Attorney.

M'CANN-M'DOWELL ASSAULT AND BATTERY.

The trial of Edward McCann for an assault and battery upon John McDowell, on Wylie street, Third ward, on the evening of the 2d of April last, was resumed. This difficulty seems to have resulted through violent and provoking language made use of by the prosecutor, who first had a difficulty in a saloon, getting knocked down, after which he went upon the street, and in his excitement proclaimed that he could "whip any p——h son of a——on Wylie street," following which he was assailed by the defendant, and severely beaten. Whiskey had also much to do with the transaction. W. C. Moreland, the counsel, made a spirited defense, and seemed to argue that McCann, instead of being the assailant, was in fact acting in his own defense; but Col. Duff, the District Attorney, could not see how in defending himself it became necessary for McCann to follow up McDowell and knock him down in the street as he ran. Judge Mellon said that in this case, as was the invariable practice in others of the kind, a great deal had been brought in that did not belong to it. The simple inquiry, on the criminal side of the Court, was whether an assault and battery had been committed. It was the breach of the peace of which the law took cognizance, and the conduct of the parties was to be inquired into no further than to show whether or not the assault and battery was justifiable, and this could only be in self-defense, where, in one's defense, an assault and battery could not be avoided. No words, of whatever kind, could be urged in justification, and violence was only justifiable in repelling violence. An attack could be resisted, but only up to the point when the attack ceases. The first assailed must then cease to be an assailant, as for any violence thereafter used the law would hold him responsible. The jury found a verdict of guilty, and McCann was sentenced to pay a fine of twenty-five dollars and to thirty days' imprisonment in jail.

WHO STOLE THE HAM!

William Harrison was tried for the larceny of a ham, weighing twenty pounds, belonging to Mary M. Fried, from a wagon at the Diamond Market, in the latter part of April. The prisoner was observed taking the ham, and found in the act of concealing it in a stable. The defence was that the prisoner was "considerable of a fool," was drunk at the time, and incompetent to form an intention to steal. Verdict guilty, with a recommendation to mercy. Sentenced to the county jail for two months.

STOLE A ROPE.

James Ryan, indicted for the larceny of a rope, valued at eleven dollars, the property of Robert McGarvey, in April, put in the plea of guilty and desired to make a statement. He served in the army, in the 6th Wisconsin regiment, and after his discharge worked for two winters in the woods near Brookville, Jefferson county. In April he came to the city on a raft, had sixty dollars in his pocket, which he spent in dissipation. Getting out of funds, he was persuaded by Dick Quinn, who stuck closer to him than a brother, to take the rope and sell it, Quinn representing it as his property. Sentenced to two months in jail.

OIL FALSE PRETENSE CASE.

William Hays, formerly storekeeper in the Fourth ward, Allegheny City, now a resident of Philadelphia, was indicted for obtaining one hundred dollars under false pretences, on complaint of Mrs. Agnes Cauley. In June or July, 1865, the prosecutrix testified that she had one hundred dollars of her own separate earnings, which she was influenced by defendant to invest in the stock of the Granite Oil Company, of which he was one of the Directors, having represented, as an inducement for the investment, that the company had a well yielding ten barrels of oil per diem, with a prospect of increasing to forty, and had been and would continue to pay large dividends—which representations were ascertained to be false. In the conversation defendant said that through his influence, as Director, he could secure the stock for a dollar a share, intimating that it was worth more. Prosecutrix spoke of going to make inquiry of Wade Hampton, Esq., the Secretary of the Company, but defendant said it was not necessary, that he (defendant) made no false representations, and would be as likely to so act to one of his own family as to the prosecutrix. He continued his favorable representations up to the time of the payment of the $100, and the giving of a certificate for one hundred shares of stock. The well of the company was represented as "flowing" ten barrels per day, with a prospect for forty barrels. Prosecutrix did not know exactly, at that time, what "flowing" meant, and, indeed, had but an indistinct idea of the oil business. She had made inquiry since, and had been enlightened. The question was asked witness as to how she became possessed of the money, it being charged in the indictment as her property, and she being a married woman. The Court held that this matter was immaterial for the purposes of the case. She had testified the money was her own, and that was competent and sufficient. In a matter between her husband and his creditors the question might be inquired into, but in the present case it was irrelevant. The sum and substance of Mrs. Cauley's testimony was that she "invested" under the representations made by Mr. Hays, which representations were false, in consequence of which she did not "realize" her "great expectations," and besides lost the amount of her investment.

John Hazlett testified that he was superintendent of the Granite Oil Company from May 1st to July 1st, 1865, the land was located in Venango county, and was considered as good as any in the neighborhood; during the time of witness' superintendency there was no "flowing" of oil, and at no time was there a yield of more than two or three barrels per diem.

The prosecution having closed, the defendant's counsel thought a case of false pretense had not been made out under the indictment, taking all the testimony to be true; but they would endeavor to show that the statements of the prosecutrix were not correct, and that no such representations as she stated were made. Mr. Hays, the defendant, was a man of standing in the community, and inasmuch as he would gain nothing by the transaction, it could not be believed he would act so deceitfully as alleged. And furthermore, he had himself invested in the oil company to the extent of $200.

Mr. Wade Hampton testified that he was Secretary and Treasurer pro tem of the Granite Oil Company until the final organization. The certificate of stock issued to Mrs. Cauley witness said bore his signature, and was obtained by Mr. Hays, who paid the money, one hundred dollars. Another certificate, issued to Mr. Hays, witness stated was also signed by him, for which the money was also paid, at the rate of one dollar per share. [The certificate of Mrs. Cauley was dated May 31, more than a month previous to the alleged representations made by defendant.] Witness further stated that Mr. Hays was not a "ground-floor man," but paid the money for the amount of his stock, without discount, and his name did not appear in any of the papers concerning the title to the oil land.

Miss Lizzie Hays, daughter of the defendant, gave an account of conversations between her father and Mrs. Cauley, concerning the oil stock, by which it appeared that the latter was extremely anxious about the matter, and really importuned Mr. Hays to secure the stock, directing him to have the certificate made out in her name, so that her husband would have nothing to do with it.

The case was on trial at adjournment.

A Happy Pair(?)

Pat Kenny made information before Alderman Lynch against his wife Ann Kenny, alleging that he was passing the Union Depot Hotel, where his wife is working, and seeing her coming out of the house followed her, thinking she was after whisky. She went into a house on Liberty street and he watched until she came out, followed her back to the hotel, and, on going in, she stopped him and ordered him to leave, which he refused to do, whereupon she seized his hat and threw it over a high fence on the railroad track and threatened to split his head open with a brick if he did not leave, and that he, being unable to get his hat, was compelled to go off without it. We are informed that Kenny and his wife are both fond of whisky and several months since separated, and their children, three in number, were sent to the City Poor Farm. Mrs. Kenny was arrested and held for a hearing.

Surety of the Peace Cases.

James McTigh made complaint before Alderman Strain, against Michael McTigh, for surety of the peace. He alleges that the defendant threatened to kill him. Michael was arrested and held for a hearing.

Orlando Kelly made oath before the same Alderman, against Silas Lucas, for a like offence. He alleges that the defendant threatened to chop his head off with an axe. Defendant was arrested and held for a hearing on Saturday.

Hugh McHugh is charged with the same offence by his wife Rosanna McHugh, who alleges that her husband not only threatened to kill her, but did actually beat and abuse her in a shameful manner. Alderman Strain issued a warrant for his arrest.

Catherine Monroe made oath before Alderman Strain against Martha, Jerry and James Fairfax, for surety of the peace. The parties were arrested and held for a hearing.

Enclosing Handbills in Newspapers.

It is against the Postoffice law to circulate handbills in newspapers. This is generally known, but not always regarded. The editor of the Jeffersonian, West Chester, sent nine papers to the Wilmington Postoffice last week, each containing a handbill. Being reported to the Postmaster General by the Postmaster of that city, Major Darlington, Postmaster at West Chester, was directed to collect $5 from each paper—$45 in all. Mr. Hodgson paid the money accordingly. We mention this matter for the information of other publishers, who are more censurable than Mr. Hodgson. The West Chester Village Record says the editor is a Johnsonite, and the fine cannot be ascribed to politics.

Alderman Humbert.

The following cases were before Alderman Humbert, of the First ward.

J. Byer made information against E. McIntosh, who resides at the foot of Penn street, charging him with selling liquor without license. A warrant was issued.

John Leader, of Clear lees township, was charged with selling liquor on Sunday, on oath of J. Byer. Warrant issued.

Thomas O'Riley charges J. R. Campbell with assault and battery. The parties reside on Delaware street, Manchester, and O'Riley alleges that Campbell knocked him down and otherwise illtreated him.

Fatal Accident at Galion.—A few days since, as the Cincinnati express train from Cleveland, was passing near Galion, it ran into a two horse wagon, containing Mr. Wilson Sipes and wife and three children. Mr. Sipes and wife were instantly killed, and the children severely injured. The horses were also killed. Mr. Sipes expected to cross the track before the train reached the crossing, but failed to do so, with the above result. The accident has cast quite a gloom over the community in which Mr. Sipes resided, as he was well known and highly respected.

Abandonment.—Jacobi Miller appeared before Alderman Strain, yesterday, and charged her husband, George Miller, with deserting and abandoning her and her children. She alleges that he has not contributed anything to her support for a long time, although he has employment, and is receiving good wages. He was arrested and held for a hearing.

Assault and Battery.—Charles Seicerfreiding, at No. 131 Cherry alley, appeared before Alderman Butler and charged Philip Eizenbice, bar-keeper, corner of Fifth street and Union alley, with assault and battery, alleging that the defendant knocked him down, kicked him and otherwise abused him. A warrant was issued for the arrest of Eizenbice.

Amalgation.—Catherine Robinson appeared before Alderman Strain and charged William Preston with fornication and bastardy. The parties are of the "african persuasion," and reside in Allegheny. William was arrested and held for a hearing.

Bake Oven Demolished.

Dennis Breen and Frank Gerard, occupy the same house, No. 34 Virgin alley, and in the rear of same house was a bake oven, in which Dennis had a four-fifth interest, while Frank had the undisputed right to one-fifth. It so happened on Wednesday that both parties wished to use the oven at the same time, which of course could not be done conveniently. Dennis contending for his rights, and holding the largest share of the stock invested, claimed the preference, and Frank, not liking to be "bluffed off" in this manner, swore he would throw the oven down, and accordingly went to work and demolished it. Dennis was sorely grieved over the loss of his bake oven and repaired to Alderman Morrow, who issued a warrant for Frank on a charge of malicious mischief. Frank was arrested and after a patient hearing the case was compromised by the defendant paying the costs and promising to rebuild the oven.

Trouble at Fort Malony.

Fort Malony is situated on a delightful elevation at the head of Webster street, in the Seventh ward, and is principally garrisoned by "colored troops," some of whom it appears are not under good discipline, or have become terribly "demoralized," we do not know which. William and Mary Harris, "colored gemen" and wife, occupants of said fort, were indulging their appetites for "strong drink," to a considerable extent on Wednesday night, and we suppose must have been "fighting whisky," as they wound up their "spree" with a fight in which Mary was badly used up, in consequence of which she made information against William, charging him with assault and battery, and Alderman Butler, before whom the complaint was made, issued a warrant for his arrest.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

☞ HELMBOLD'S
Concentrated Fluid Extract Sarsaparilla

Eradicates ERUPTIVE and ULCERATIVE DISEASES of the THROAT, NOSE, EYES, EYELIDS, SCALP and SKIN,

Which so disfigure the appearance, PURGING the evil effects of mercury and removing all taints, the remnants of DISEASES, hereditary or otherwise, and is taken by ADULTS and CHILDREN with perfect safety.

TWO TABLE SPOONFULS of the Extract of Sarsaparilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decoctions as usually made.

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla; its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—The best Farm in Fairfield township, Westmoreland county, Pa., containing about 260 acres, situated six miles south of the Pennsylvania Railroad, at Bolivar Station. The improvements are a large hued log house, with nine rooms, a good cellar; a frame bank barn, 40x70, with the best of stabling. Two apple and one peach orchard. The whole farm is under a high state of cultivation; the fencing is all No. 1; the soil is good, and is well watered; about 160 acres cleared, the remainder in good white oak timber. This property is offered at the low price of fifty dollars per acre. Possession immediately.

Also, a valuable Garden Farm, containing 80 acres, situated in Elizabeth township, Allegheny county, Pa., on the Youghiogheny river, and near Elrod's Station, on the Connellsville Railroad, about nineteen miles from the city. The improvements are a two-story brick house with six rooms, hall running through the house, with cellar; a No. 1 barn and other out-buildings. Abundance of the best fruits, of all varieties. Churches, Schools and Mills very convenient. Persons wishing to engage in gardening would do well to call and purchase quickly.

Also, a Farm of 440 acres, situated in West Wheatfield township, Indiana county, Pa., about 3½ miles from the line of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The improvements are—First, a two-story frame house, with five rooms, a large frame barn, 45x70, corn crib, carriage house, a good stone spring house and wood house. Second, a two-story log house, a large frame barn, 40x70, a 1½ story frame spring house, and other outbuildings. The fencing is all good, abundance of limestone on the place, and coal but a short distance. Convenient to Churches, Schools, Mills, &c. I am authorized to sell this property very cheap and on easy terms.

Also, An excellent Farm of 160 acres, of which 95 acres are under cultivation, situate in Christian county, Illinois. Improvements—a new frame dwelling containing 5 rooms; about 400 choice fruit trees, good fencing, &c. It lies within 2 miles of the Illinois Central R. R.; will be sold on reasonable terms. City property taken in part exchange if desired.

Also, a Farm of 312 acres in Penn township, Westmoreland county, 230 acres cleared and under cultivation, 82 acres of first-rate white oak and other timber, 2 dwelling houses, 1 of them 2 stories, the other 1 story, with a tenant house, with a first-rate Steam sawmill in good running order; young orchard of grafted fruit. The land is rolling; every acre is tillable, with lime stone soil and sub soil, with never failing springs; within one hundred rods of the Penna. Central Railroad; 28 miles east of Pittsburgh, and three miles west of Greensburg. This farm is pleasantly and eligibly situated in a good neighborhood; every acre is underlaid with coal. The title is good.

Also, a two-story Brick House, with 10 rooms; 20 feet front and 58 feet back, with two good lots, situated in the village of Bairdstown, Derry township, Westmoreland county, Pa., on the bank of the Conemaugh river immediately opposite the Borough of Blairsville. This property I will sell for the low price of $1200.

Also, a Farm of 230 acres, situated in East Wheatfield township, Indiana county, Penna. The improvements are a good frame house, frame barn, and other outbuildings; about 150 cleared and under good fence, the residue in good timber. The soil is of a good quality, well watered, convenient to churches, schools, mills, etc. Will be sold at the low price of $40 per acre. Possession immediately.

The Pittsburgh Gazette

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, June 27, 1867.

The New York stock quotations to-day, as received by Mr. P. R. Mertz, were as follows: Gold, 137⅞; Eighty-one bonds, 113⅛; Five Twenties, 1862, 110⅝; Five Twenties, 1864, 107⅛; Five Twenties, 1865, 107½; 1865 Consols, 110⅝; Seven Thirties, 106⅝; Ten Forties, 100⅝; Michigan Southern Railroad, 75⅜; Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 80½; Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago, 101⅞; Erie, 63¼; Chicago and Northwestern, 38¾; Chicago and Northwestern preferred, 62; New York Central, 103¼; Reading, 108¼; Chicago and Rock Island, 93⅞; Corydon, 1,75; Quartz Hill, 1,70; Gregory, 5 95; Smith & Parmerlee, 4,00.

Gold is strong at 138, it touched 137⅞, but advanced, and closed at 138 bid. The gold market sympathizes with the general advance in Railroad shares and bonds, but operators for a rise don't feel very confident. The Government will begin to pay out on Monday next about eighteen millions, which will more effectually stop an advance than did the payments in May last. The largest amount of coupons are in the hands of dealers in the bonds and coupons and will be presented at once for payment, and no foreign bondholders are to be paid now, which increases the amount of gold by nine millions for the home market.

Bonds are firmer, and transactions heavy—rather to sell than to buy. Railroad shares have touched prices which were not reached since January last, and parties having sold short will come to grief; there is no telling where the advance will stop. A long list of stocks has to be reached yet, which were favorites with speculators not having attracted much notice, but in turn will be sought out and, perhaps, carried higher than ever. Money is easier. The bank statement is likely to be favorable.

Closing quotations received by James T. Brady:

—The general tone of business at the different commercial and financial centres is improving. The promise of good crops, the low prices of the leading stocks, the large amount of unemployed capital combine with the enforced quietude of the last few months to impart an impulse to business among brokers and operators especially. The week at New York opened with an easy money market. The preparations at the banks for the quarterly statement have not yet had any effect, owing chiefly to the heavy disbursements of the Treasury Department. The New York Express says that the most strenuous efforts have been made to lock up greenbacks, but they have signally failed thus far. On Saturday one of the Trust Companies refused to lend $600,000 on sealed packages of greenbacks, and one of the National banks refused a similar proposition, at the same time requesting the party to withdraw his account from the bank.

—The recent outflow of currency from the Treasury to the banks through the demands growing out of the Treasury sales of United States Five Twenties to May and early in June have prepared the National banks for their quarterly statements on Monday morning next. Private lenders and the trust, insurance and coal companies appear to have abundant funds to lend, and the dividend disbursements in July will largely increase this supply of capital seeking investment on call.

—The Chicago Republican of Wednesday, says: The money market exhibits a fair degree of activity, and is reported easy enough for first class paper, but close for business paper of a doubtful character. The bankers are looking forward to the first of July, at which time they make their quarterly returns, and as all are anxious to make a good showing, they are husbanding their resources for that occasion. The country banks are drawing on the banks here, so that their balances, at least some of them, are reduced to a low point. Loans on call are given the preference to loans on time, and paper is only discounted where it has a short time to run. The current rate of interest is 10 per cent.

—The Boston Bulletin has the following gossip on "hub" finances:

"The coppers are slow of sale. Some of the copper stock speculators charge the present dullness to the frequency of holidays this season—it will be noticed that these now occur once a week. Last Monday was the 17th, and brokers went a fishing; next Monday they will swing around the circle with Andy Johnson; the week following will be the Fourth of July week, and Commencement also comes in July. This does not, to be sure, look very much like business, and is very aggravating to people solely bent upon making money. The variations in the prices of the copper seem hardly worthy of note. We hear of some proposed movements in one or two of the smaller coppers, but the plans of action are not fully matured.

"The recent failure of a State street stock operator is not of a character to excite any great attention beyond the immediate circle of sufferers. The embarrassment of the individual in question is likely to cause controversy between certain banks regarding liability for deposited checks. The dispute is very similar to the one which followed the Franklin explosion, and may lead to the final settlement of some very nice points.

"We hear from Washington that there is some talk at headquarters of endeavoring to curtail the business now being done in State and Wall streets, in the certified checks line. There are well known cases where a great business in the banking and broking line is carried on by the aid of what have been termed kiting certificates. There is scarcely a limit to the inflation possible under an abuse of the certified check system.

"One or two more out of town failures in the manufacturing line have come to our notice. The parties show large assets. We are often asked why omit names in mentioning suspensions. The reasons should be obvious enough. Readers vitally interested already know who the parties are, and it does not seem necessary to me that anybody else need to be particularly informed in the matter. It is our duty to watch the financial current, and give the general results of any storm which may occur. We have hardly time to give the names of the ships which go down or the passenger lists."

CENTRAL LIVE-STOCK MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, June 27, 1867.

ARRIVALS OF STOCK DURING THE WEEK.

The following statement shows the number of cars of stock received at the Central Yards during the week ending Wednesday, June 19th:

	Cattle.	Hogs.	Sheep.
P. F. W. & C. R. R.	191 cars	65 cars	30 cars
P. R. R.	31 "	24 "	9 "
& C. R. R.	53 "	23 "	18 "
Total	275 "	112 "	57 "
Total last week	213 "	101 "	41 "

CATTLE.

The market was a hard one this week for sellers, and, compared with last week, prices were from ¼@½c lower, and even at the decline trade was not very lively. There was a fair attendance of buyers, mainly from Philadelphia, but they took hold sparingly, under the influence of unfavorable advices from the east, and holders were obliged to make the concessions above noted in order to sell. Last week prime retailing Cattle sold at 9@9½c, while this week, the same quality did not command more than 8¾—one small bunch only bringing 9c. Common and inferior Cattle very dull and lower. There was a fair demand for good stock steers, with sales at 6@6,50—common at 5@5½. The impression still prevails among dealers that prices must go lower, and this, as a matter of course, has a tendency to retard operations and restrict the demand, and operators generally are exercising more caution.

SHEEP.

There was a decided improvement in the Sheep market this week, and, notwithstanding there was a fair supply, prices compared with last week advanced from ¼@½c for prime fat mutton Sheep. Common and inferior grades continue exceedingly dull, and are hard to sell at any price, while, as we have already stated, good fat Sheep brought an advance, and may now be quoted at 5¼@5¾, and one or two bunches of extra brought 6c. There were quite a number taken for New York this week, as well as Philadelphia.

HOGS.

The market has been rather dull during the past week, though, as the arrivals have been limited, prices have undergone little or no change, with the exception that New York Hogs brought a little more than last week, and Philadelphia Hogs, if anything, a fraction less. We now quote at 6@6½ gross, for fair to good averages.

PITTSBURGH MRAKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, June 27, 1866.

The Flour market continues firm and considerably excited, under the influence of the dispatches from Chicago and New York, and prices are still tending upward. Grain, also, is firm but unchanged. In other articles, there are no new characteristics worthy of special notice, though, upon the whole, there is rather more doing, and a stronger feeling exists.

GROCERIES—Steady and moderately active, with a fair jobbing demand. Coffee is quoted at 24½@26c for fair to good, and 26½@27c for prime to choice. Sugars—12@13½c for Cuba; 14½c for choice New Orleans; 13¼@13¾c for Porto Rico; 17c for Crushed; 16c for "A" Coffee; 15½c for "B" and 15¼c for "C" Extra New Orleans Molasses, prime, $1. Rangoon Rice, 10@10½. Syrups range from 60 to 90c.

GRAIN—There is no movement in Wheat, and there is no stock in this market. Oats firm and more active; sale of 200 bush, on track, at 65c; and 2 car loads at same price. Corn is firm but quiet; prime Yellow, in the absence of sales, may be quoted at 90c. Rye has advanced in the west, but in this market there is not enough doing to establish quotations. Last sales of Spring Barley at $1,05@1,10—for prime.

FLOUR—Is firm, considerably excited and higher. We now continue to quote at $12@12.50 for Spring Wheat; $13@13,50 for Winter Wheat, and $17@17,50 for fancy brands. Rye Flour is quiet, though held pretty firmly at $8@8.50.

PROVISIONS—There is a fair jobbing demand for Bacon, and we can report small jobbing sales at 9½c for Shoulders; 11½@12½c Ribbed and Clear Sides, and 16@16½c for Sugar Cured Hams. Lard is dull at 11½@12½c. Dried Beef, 23½c, and Mess Pork, $22.25@22,50.

LARD OIL—Is quiet but steady at 80@85c for No. 2, and $1.03@1.05 for No. 1—city brands.

POTATOES—There is a fair local demand for prime Peach Blows, with sales, in store, at 1,15@1.20 per bushel, and $3 25@3 50 per bbl. New crop Potatoes are quoted at $6@6,50 per bbl., and declined.

BUTTER—Is dull and unchanged. Prime fresh Butter may be quoted at 16@18c. Common packed is not wanted, and apparently, at any price.

EGGS—Dull, and if anything, a shade lower. Sales of fresh packed reported at 18@20c per dozen.

CHEESE—Is dull and the stock is increasing rapidly. Sales reported at 14@16, according to quality.

STARCH—"Madison" is quoted at 7½c, to the trade, and 7¾c, in small lots. Messrs. Shomaker and Lang are the agents in this city.

SALT—Dull but unchanged. We continue to quote Allegheny river brands at $2,30, on track, and $2.40, delivered.

DRIED FRUIT—Is in good supply and very dull. We continue to quote in a retail way at 6 to 6½c for Apples, and 9 to 12c for Peaches.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, June 27, 1867.

CRUDE—There was but comparatively little done in oil to-day, which was owing partially to the fact that a large proportion of the dealers were absent on an excursion up the Allegheny Valley Railroad, but mainly to the fact that the little "flurry" in the east has subsided and the market has got back to where it was last week. The operations in crude, however, were larger, in the aggregate, than on Wednesday, reaching nearly fourteen thousand barrels, while prices have undergone no quotable change. Sales of 750 bbls on the spot, and 3000 bbls for 1867, on private terms; and 10,000 to be delivered between now and the 31st of December, 1868, buyer's option, at 12½c. We have no advices from Oil City to-day.

REFINED—The market for bonded oil has quieted down considerably, under the influence of less favorable reports from the east, the excitement there having pretty well subsided, and while there is less inquiry, there is but little offering. We have but a single sale to record, 1,500 bbls for August and September, on private terms—it was rumored that there had been a sale for October and November, at 27c, but it was not well authenticated, and we cannot vouch for its correctness, indeed, the probability is that no such sale was made. Spot Oil is nominally unchanged, and July would hardly bring more than 23c, possibly 23½c.

New York Dry Goods Market.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 27.—The dry goods market is nominally quiet yet steady for all staple styles of cottons, and as the production is materially curtailed, the indications are that prices will be higher in July and August. Woolens are dull and greatly depressed for unseasonable styles. Fall styles are commencing to sell at higher prices. Black cross grain silks are very scarce and 10 per cent. higher than recently. The market is swept of this class of goods.

New York Cattle Market.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 27.—The supply of Cattle will be heavy, as nearly 6 000 head are to arrive this morning. Prices have declined, and it takes a very choice bullock to bring 17. Common stocks sell as low as $13@14, but for excellent quality generally on sale the decline has been greater. Sheep firmer at $7.50. Swine ½c lower, $6¾ being the top figure.

RIVER NEWS.

The river has got so low that it is hardly necessary to keep the run of the stage of water any longer. With the exception of the Monongahela packets there has been no arrivals or departures, and business on the main landing is almost wholly suspended.

We observe that the St. Louis and Louisville papers are having quite a war of words about the steamers Ruth and Richmond. The St. Louis Democrat, of Wednesday, says that the Richmond's time from New Orleans to Memphis was two days and eighteen hours—as claimed by Captain Neal—while that of the Ruth was two hours less. The same paper also remarks:

"The Courier again claimed that the Ruth is a Louisville built boat, and the Richmond likewise. Neither of them was built there. As to the Ruth, her cook house and pantry, we believe, were outfitted by Louisville dealers. We refer to these trifling particulars for the sake of truth. We are rich here in fine and fast boats. Why, there is the modest Arthur lying opposite our city. She will go out one of these days, and can without trouble beat either the Richmond or Ruth about one mile an hour.

We extract the following items from the Cincinnati Commercial, of Wednesday: The Root. Moore arrived from Pittsburgh yesterday, and goes in the dock for complete repairs. She will take the place of the Telegraph in the Big Sandy trade during the low water season. The Argosy and Golden Era have also been chartered for the same trade during low water. The Robt. E. Lee, Argosy and Westmoreland arrived at New Orleans on the 24th. Captain Geo. W. Reed, of the Cumberland, arrived from Pittsburgh in last night's train. His packet was out last night on a moonlight excursion. Capt. Reed comes here to superintend the refitting of the Camelia and America for the low water campaign. Mr. Jas. D. Thompson, of the Edinburg, was married to one of the belles of Newport, Ky., last evening. We congratulate the gallant Thompson on his good fortune. Messrs. W. H. Attenborough and Thos. Trunnell, pilot the Ezra Porter, leaving for New Orleans to-day. Capt. Frank M. Davidson has returned from his trip to New Orleans, in fine health. Mr. Hartupee, the well-known machinist, passed through the city yesterday, en route from Louisville for Pittsburgh. Capt. J. H. Maratta arrived from Pittsburgh yesterday. His packet, the Emma No. 3, follows the Wauanita to New Orleans. Capt. Montgomery has concluded not to put the Atlantic's cylinders in the Dexter; but puts in thirty-four inch cylinders. Capt. J. Willard Davis, of Mobile, is about closing a contract with Hill, Hewitt & Co., and Stuckey, Twancey, & Co., of New Albany, for a propeller, to be a duplicate of the propellers Lucretia and Sarah, built there last season.

The Gazette of same date says: The recent trial of speed between the Richmond and the Ruth has demonstrated that the boats are about equally matched. The first named boat made the run from New Orleans to Memphis in two days and eighteen hours, making twenty-one landings, and losing one hour and a-half the first night out by a storm.

The Ruth made the run of the same distance in two days, sixteen hours and fifty-five minutes, and making but four or five landings. The Richmond started at 6 P. M., and the Ruth at 5 P. M. The calculation is easily made, if the officers have given truthful statements, and time is in favor of the Richmond, which boat arrived at Memphis ten minutes ahead of her competitor.

Capt. Tunis' St. Louis & Keokuk packet was launched at Madison on Saturday, and was towed to New Albany by the Mollie Gratz, where she will receive her machinery. Her dimensions are 250 long, 41 feet beam and 6½ feet depth of hold. She will have six five-flued boilers, 26-inch cylinders, 7 feet stroke. She will receive her outfit from firms in this city.

A novel gunboat has been designed for the Swedish navy by Capt. Ericsson, of monitor fame. It is iron-clad, and is smaller than gunboats generally are. The deck is entirely below the level of the water, and is strongly protected with plating. From the deck rises a kind of sheath oval, and open at one end, above the water, and in this is worked a fifteen inch gun, which points always in the direction of the bow. The motive power is applied not by steam, but by the arms of thirty-two men, who act by a simple and effective mechanism on a screw with four flanges. This gunboat, which is already constructed, is said to be admirably adapted to the defense of the islands, bays, inlets, and lakes of Sweden. The power obtained is sufficient for the required purpose, and the total cost of the boat is little over $30 000.

The Memphis Avalanche, of Sunday, says: The Ruth and Richmond passed here yesterday, only remaining a short time in port. They left New Orleans on Wednesday evening, determined, if possible, not to part company. The Ruth had telegraphed to Vicksburg to have two coal barges in readiness for her by seven in the morning, so that she should be subjected to no unnecessary delay. The Richmond arrived here about fifteen minutes ahead, and was in such haste to get her ice aboard and proceed on her way that two or three of her deck hands were knocked down by her tenders, and one of them quite severely injured. Both boats were evidently making the most of their time—being out from New Orleans two days and eighteen hours. Considerable excitement prevailed here among their respective friends, and some heavy wagers were laid upon their respective time to Cairo. When the Richmond arrived she was greeted with a salute from a howitzer on the Great Republic, receiving freight for New Orleans, whose band struck up a grand air on the arrival of the Ruth, which left port about half an hour after the departure of the Richmond in gallant style. The Ruth, to infer from her telegram, must have lost six hours by some means, as she did not arrive until one o'clock and fifteen minutes, when she was expected at 7 a. m.

The Louisville Courier, of Tuesday, says: The Great Republic, bound to New Orleans from St. Louis, passed Cairo Friday with a slim trip. This is very unfortunate for the interests of St. Louis, and very poor encouragement to the enterprising owners of the finest and most costly boat ever in the trade. We can attribute it to the unfortunate, if not malign influence of the barge towing fleet. We see, too, that the St. Louis papers have never a word to say in sustaining the true commercial and steamboat interests of that port.

GREAT REVOLUTION IN THE WINE TRADE OF THE UNITED STATES.—PURE CALIFORNIA CHAMPAGNE, made and prepared as if done in France, from pure California wine, and taking the place of Imported Champagne.

The undersigned would call the attention of Wine Dealers and Hotel Keepers to the following letter, which may be a correct idea of the quality of their Wine:

"CONTINENTAL HOTEL,
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25th, 1866.

"MESSRS. BOUCHER & CO.—Gentlemen: Having given your California Champagne a thorough test, we take pleasure in saying that we think it the best American Wine we have ever used. We shall at once place it on our bill of fare. Yours truly, J. E. KINGSLEY & CO."

Call and try our California Champagne.

ORDINANCES.

AN ORDINANCE for the better government and regulation of the Fire Department.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the Mayor, Aldermen and Citizens of Pittsburgh, in Select and Common Councils assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by authority of the same, That whenever any company or companies of the Fire Department shall be engaged at a fire, they shall be under the control of the Chief Engineer, or in his absence, the assistant Engineer, in order of rank, and they shall obey all orders given by said Chief or Assistants.

SEC. 2. That any company who shall disobey any order given as directed in the first section of this ordinance, shall be immediately suspended from service by the Chief Engineer, and remain so suspended until a hearing shall be had before the Committee of Councils on "Fire Engines and Hose," who, upon due proof being made of a violation of this ordinance, shall have power, and they are hereby required, to continue such suspension for a period not exceeding two months, and further to inflict a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars, together with a share of the appropriation made to such offending company, in proportion to the time of such suspension, and the Controller is hereby directed to deduct said forfeitures from the warrants, when instructed by said committee to do so.

SEC. 3. The Chief Engineer, when he shall have suspended any company, shall notify the Committee on Fire Engines and Hose within forty-eight hours, who shall, through their clerk notify the company, stating in said notice the time and place of hearing, which time shall never be more than five days from date of first suspension.

SEC. 4. That for the purpose of exercise, the horses of the several companies shall not be taken beyond the limits of the city of Pittsburgh, nor shall they be taken beyond said limits for any purpose other than that of attending a fire, under a penalty of twenty-five dollars for each and every offence, said penalty to be deducted from appropriation upon due proof being made before the committee on Fire Engines and Hose, and so certified by said Committee.

SEC. 5. That in order to secure a sufficient number of steamers being at all times in readiness any company requiring to go out of service shall notify the Chief Engineer, and obtain his permission; any company not complying shall forfeit the proportion of their appropriation for the time they are not employed.

SEC. 6. That each company shall obey all orders given by the "Chief Engineer" and "Committee on Fire Engines and Hose," under penalty of suspension and forfeiture of appropriation until such orders are complied with.

SEC. 7. That any ordinance or part of ordinance conflicting with the passage of this ordinance at the present time, be and the same is hereby repealed so far as the same affects this ordinance.

Ordained and enacted into a law in Councils this 24th day of June, A. D. 1867.

JAMES McAULEY,
President of Select Council.

Attest: E. S. MORROW,
Clerk of Select Council.

THOMAS STEEL,
President of Common Council.

Attest: HUGH McMASTER,

AN ORDINANCE regulating the rates to be charged within the city limits by Carriages, Hacks, Omnibuses, &c., for carrying passengers and baggage.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the Mayor, Aldermen and Citizens of Pittsburgh, in Select and Common Councils assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by authority of the same, That from and after the passage of this ordinance, it shall be unlawful for any owner or driver of any carriage, hack, omnibus or other vehicle to charge a greater amount than fifty cents for hauling or conveying any person, with one trunk from any railroad depot, steamboat, hotel or house within the city limits to any other point within said city limits and a greater sum than twenty-five cents shall not be charged for hauling or conveying each additional trunk or piece of baggage within the limits aforesaid.

SEC. 2. All carriages, hacks, omnibuses and other vehicles used in conveying passengers, for pay to and from railroad depots, steamboats, hotels, dwellings, &c., shall have and keep a copy of this ordinance, plainly printed, together with the number of said vehicle posted or hung up in a conspicuous place within said vehicle.

SEC. 3. Any violation of this ordinance shall subject the party violating the same to a fine not exceeding ten dollars for each offence to be collected as other fines for violation of city ordinances are by law recoverable, and all ordinances or parts of ordinances conflicting herewith are hereby repealed.

Ordained and enacted into a law in Councils this 24th day of June, A. D. 1867.

JAMES McAULEY,
President of Select Council.

Attest: E. S. MORROW,
Clerk of Select Council.

MEDICAL.

CONSUMPTION!

It would take a man a lifetime to read the treatises that have been written upon this important subject, and if a sick man were to attempt it he would make himself worse by the reading, and die before he got half through. The symptoms of the disease are, hacking cough, expectoration of matter or pus, pain in one or both lungs, chilliness, burning in the palms of the hands and soles of the feet, exhausting day or night sweats, hectic fever, wasting of flesh or marasmus, sometimes expectoration of blood. These are the usual outward symptoms, apparent not only to the observing physician, but to the patient's friends. There are, however, more important symptoms than these, which are only made manifest by auscultation and percussion, terms which mean, in a medical sense, thumping and listening, and they are employed outwardly in order to ascertain what is going on inside of the cavity of the chest. The signs of symptoms elicited in this way are almost surely demonstrate the true and exact condition of the respiratory organs. A perfect auscultator can not fail in ascertaining whether the Lungs are acting naturally or not. Hence it is the best method of examining the lungs. Their actual condition once discovered, the appropriate treatment is more rapidly arrived at, and every diseased part more completely under the influence of appropriate remedies. We have long been of the opinion that consumption or decay, or wasting of the bodily strength, was dependent on a depraved state of the blood, which carries, in its course, tuberculous matter, and deposits it in the lungs, or elsewhere in the body, just as calculi or stone is deposited in the bladder, a small particle of which attracts other particles, until it becomes of such offense to the natural functions as to bring on inflammatory action, which action, if it could, would carry it out of the system, and which could have been easily done in the beginning of such disease. DR. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP is a complete and perfect cure in the forming stage of lung disease. It acts on the very principle we have stated above, by enabling the secreting or carrying off organs to do a double share of work. Waste and repair are easily comprehended, and if the worn out material be carried off, and the renewing material of a proper character, there must be health and ease, the contrary of sickness and dis-ease. In many cases of consumption which have become settled, Dr. Keyser's Pectoral Syrup fails to cure, although it will do good in nearly all. He prepares a medicine called LUNG CURE OF PULMONARY RESTORATIVE, which is a great tonic, and strengthens and restores the parts to be renewed, while it dissolves and carries out from the body those particles of worn out or extraneous matter, which only tend to clog or destroy it, by hindering the renewing material being deposited in proper place.

PULMONARY CONSUMPTION, RESULTING FROM PLEURISY, CURED.

Statement of George Ford, carpenter, of No. 16 Sampson street, Allegheny City:

I took a violent attack of pleurisy, in May, 1866, which left me with a cough lasting all summer, wearing away my strength and gradually undermining my health. During this attack of pleurisy I had several physicians of the highest reputation in the city. After I had partially recovered from the pleurisy, I was advised to go into the country, which I did, and when there a called in a doctor, who told me my left lung was affected, and that if something were not done soon I would die of CONSUMPTION. I lingered on from this time until about the middle of June, my cough and lung disease gradually growing worse, and I weaker every day, and almost despairing of ever getting well. In this state of despondency, and knowing the general belief of the incurability of Consumption, and having heard of cures made by DR. KEYSER, and seeing his advertisement in the newspapers, I was induced in October last to call on the Doctor at his office, 120 Penn street, and had him examine my lungs with his "LUNG SOUND." He told me the upper lobe of my left lung was very much diseased, but he thought with great care and the perseverance in the use of his medicine, I would get well. At the time I called on Dr. Keyser my pulse was over one hundred and thirty beats in a minute, and I was generally prostrated, and had to cough night and day. I commenced the Doctor's treatment in October, with a feeble, broken constitution, and continued it faithfully until the present time. The Doctor's medicines helped me from the very start, and I could gradually feel myself getting stronger, and my cough and expectoration lessening. I have gained greatly in flesh, and consider myself well; all the rattling of my lung has ceased, and my general health is in every way good. All my relatives and friends know of the advanced stage of my disease and my extraordinary recovery. One of the medicines given me by Dr. Keyser was a medicine called LUNG CURE, which I took in connection with the other treatment.

ANOTHER CURE OF CONSUMPTION.

STATEMENT OF JOHN G. WIGHAM, OF TURTLE CREEK, ALLEGHENY COUNTY.

I was discharged from the United States army January, 1866, on account of a wound in the head, from a shell, and a disease which the army physicians pronounced CONSUMPTION. I had a terrible cough and fell away in strength and flesh and was unable to do anything. Shortly after my return from the army, I made application to a physician of my neighborhood and, afterwards, to another in Pittsburgh of high reputation, whose remedies I used faithfully for five months, without any benefit whatever, but rather grew worse, and wasted in flesh and strength every day. In August, 1866, my mother took me to DOCTOR KEYSER, of 120 Penn street, whose skill in such cases like mine had been highly spoken of and put myself under his treatment. The Doctor examined my lungs very carefully with his LUNG SOUND, and told me that my left lung was badly diseased at the upper part, but if I was careful he thought he could cure me by following his directions closely, which I did from that day to this. I gradually improved under Dr. Keyser's medicines from the first week I commenced to take them, and my general health has improved, and my chest, where it was sunken away, and where it pained me, has become full and strong and free from pain. I can now do a full day's work, and take great pleasure in giving my testimony in favor of Dr. Keyser's treatment and medicines.

JOHN G. WIGHAM,
Turtle Creek,

PITTSBURGH, April 11th, 1867.

A case of five years' standing cured by DR. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP:

DR. KEYSER:—My wife has been afflicted with a cough and difficulty of breathing for five or six years, which, for several years back, had gradually increased in violence. The complaint has been hereditary, and she had been treated by several physicians without any relief. In this state of her case I procured some of your PECTORAL COUGH SYRUP. I bought the first time a fifty cent bottle, which relieved her very much; I then called and got a dollar bottle, which cured her entirely, and she has now no trace of the former disease, except weakness. I would also state that I used the medicine myself to a cold and cough. The medicine cured me by taking one dose. I express my entire satisfaction with the medicine, and you are at liberty to publish this if you desire to do so.

WM. WILSON,
Alderman, Fifth Ward.

Our son, JAMES PAINTER, some three years of age was afflicted with consumption of the lungs, for which he was discharged from the army. He was examined by four army physicians, who all agreed that he must die with the disease. We brought him to Dr. KEYSER, 140 Wood street, (now 120 Penn street,) who, after sounding his lungs, commenced to treat him, and cured him sound and well. He is now well and has been so for the past three years. Others afflicted in like manner can likewise be cured.
